Slash Levee Costs

By GRAY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

In a surprise move Wednesday morning, two of the three remaining trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District dismissed 19 district employees, abolished the district police department and lowered six employees in rank in what was described as an economy move.

The action was taken after the district was to avoid a "financial disaster." William A. "Mike" Ebersold, board president, explained.

He said that with raises granted district employees this year, district funds would have been exhausted by September if drastic action had not been taken.

Ebersold estimated Wednesday's action will save the district between $10,000 and $13,000 per month.

The motions to trim the payroll was passed over objections of Trustee Lawrence Taylor who walked out of the meeting after voting against abolishment of the police department. On that vote, he lost two to one.

Ebersold and James Pirle, appointed by Gov. Richard Ogilvie as a board member, voted in favor of the motion.

The three trustees are the only remaining members of the board since the conviction of Morris Campbell of East St. Louis on charges of theft, and February, and the death of Trustee George Duff last fall. A number of board meetings have been halted recently for lack of a quorum due to the absence of Tolar.

Attorney's rule, Wednesday after the meeting had started did not nullify subsequent action by the board. They said a quorum was present when the meeting began so all action taken by Ebersold and Pirle after Tolar left is legal.

In moving for approval of the staff reduction proposal, Ebersold said, "I have met with

Close Competition Here

In Quad-Cities were almost evenly divided in Democratic primary balloting Tuesday on the governor, state representative and Madison County recorder of deeds nominations.

Reflecting the state trend which saw him lose to "walking" Dan Walker for the right to oppose Governor Richard B. Ogilvie (R), Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon lost in the four local townships by only 6,832 to 5,363 for Walker.

Although a Madison County resident who for many years represented the Quad-Cities in the Illinois General Assembly, Simon lost to Nameoki Township, 5,898 to 5,363 for Walker.

Simon barely won in Granite City 2,883-2,788 and in Chouteau Township, 5,898 to 5,363 for Walker.

Victories by Muskie and Walker in Primary Races

By WILLIAM F. WINTER
Editor

Biggest smiles after Tuesday's Illinois primary election were worn by U. S. Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, a would-be Democratic Presidential nominee, and the November 1972 gubernatorial rival, Democrat Daniel Walker and Republican Richard B. Ogilvie, incumbent governor.

Garnering 39 convention delegates to 14 for Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota — and also hopeful of support from most of the 87 delegates uncommitted delegates — Sen. Muskie saw his campaign regain momentum after a serious setback in the previous week's Florida voting. He spoke in Granite City Monday afternoon.

In the Presidential preference primary Tuesday in Illinois, Sen. Muskie polled 63%, to 37% — 747,887 to 438,888 — for former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Walker's unexpected win over Lieutenant Governor Ogilvie had seemed likely to be a titanic ball battle between the officials who captured the top two state offices in 1968.

Instead, it will be a clash between two 40-year-old nominees, with Gov. Ogilvie seeking a second term against an energetic lawyer and business executive who walks the entire length of the state during the primary campaign. Walker also "debated" Simon record in April when he and Gov. Ogilvie took part in a debate.

GOP jubilation was based partly on the fact that the experienced chief executive will face an opponent who has never held office.

However, Walker has shown oratorical skill and hopes to prove it during the first week of the campaign.

He will take part in a debate at Springfield.

An even bigger plus factor for the governor is the disarray in Democratic ranks. Walker has been a constant critic of Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and authored the controversial report which blamed the rioting at the 1968 Democratic national convention.

A U. S. Naval Academy graduate whose wife and several children helped him campaign, Walker, quit a $119,000-a-year post as vice-president and general counsel of Montgomery Ward & Co. to run in the primary.

He also is a lawyer, while Simon was a newspaper editor before becoming a state representative and senator.

Simon for many years represented the Quad-City area in the General Assembly.

He hoped to become the first governor from Madison County in this century, and indicated his deep desire to remain in public life — although he has no current plans to run for any office.

Discussing his 724,133 - 678,985 loss, Simon said Walker distorted his income tax revision proposal in order to sway voters.

The walking candidate also was aided by widespread "cross-over" votes by Republicans, who made use of a new federal court ruling that voters could register either party ballot in a primary.

Walker is believed to have convinced many Illinoisans that Simon has close ties to the Daley political organization.

Simon maintained that he had made no political deals, but Walker countered by saying Simon was avoiding open criticism of political practices which Simon formerly assailed.

The fall ballot will pit Walker and Neil F. Hartigan, a Daley protégé, against Gov. Ogilvie and Rep. James D. Nowlin.

Hartigan, who had been Simon's running-mate, won the Democratic nomination for governor with 650,871 to 321,900 for Neil E. Eckert, Carbondale mayor running with Walker.

Gov. Ogilvie won 437,719 to 418,851 over John Mathis, a Peoria doctor.

For the Democratic nomination to oppose U. S. Senator Charles H. Percy (R), Congressman Robert C. Pucinski of Chicago defeated

Voting Machine Mixup Causes Tally Delays

Mistakes in delivering voting machines to some precincts caused election judges to switch to paper ballots during the Madison County primary election Tuesday.

The errors resulted in a long delay in getting final totals on the vote in the county as four precincts had yet to report by mid morning Wednesday.

Included were Chouteau Township Precinct No. 3 and three precincts in Wood River Township. However, some Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Alton area township precincts also were late in reporting results to Miss Fulania Rotz, county clerk, with some difficulty in after midnight.

Miss Evelyn Bowles, chief deputy county clerk, blamed the voting machine mixup on the 12 Nameoki Residents Ask Annexation to GC

A petition by the owners of 12 residential properties in Nameoki that the combined tract be annexed to Granite City was received by the city council Monday night.

On a motion by Alderman Emerald Daves, the petition was referred to the city attorney and the city engineer for preparation of plats and ordinances to effect the annexation.

The 12 properties make up a tract that is contiguous to the corporate limits of the city, permitting annexation by ordinance, it was pointed out.

Residential parcels for which annexation is requested include 1629, 1619, 1615, 1611 and 1601 Spring Avenue; 4216, 4220 and 4224 Nameoki Road, and 1603, 1601, 1616 and 1620 Fremont Avenue. All of the properties now are located in Nameoki Township.

Big Sewer Saving Cited

A report discussed briefly at Monday night's Granite City Council meeting outlines how Quad-Cities can save $3,908,000 in treating their sewer and sewage treatment needs. A partial text is given elsewhere in this issue.

There is no saving when compared with Alternate Plan 2, but no local officials regard that plan as their first choice.

The second alternate, totaling $123,309,000 for the city, $123,309,000 for the county and $123,309,000 for the four local townships, is the first choice for the city's treatment plant upgrading. $14,533,000 for four township interceptors; and $3,618,000 for four-township sewage collection.

Plan 3, strongly recommended by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, includes $67,741,000 for the city's treatment plant upgrading; $14,533,000 for four township interceptors; and $3,618,000 for four-township sewage collection.

The abolition of the police department, effective April 1, will change the staff of all policemen to watchmen and will abolish the jobs of the chief and assistant chief of police. Four jobs are eliminated by the move and the remaining policemen will continue under the pay status that presently exists under the Teamsters' locals 729 and 525 contracts.

Being cut are Chief Charles D. Little and James E. Nelson; Andrew Hankins and James H. Oldham, policemen.

Oliver Smith, a pump station workman who was discharged last week, attended the meeting and complained of unfairness in the board's actions. Smith charged his supervisors reported he had not attended numerous days of work.

"I came every morning and left two hours later, just like everyone else did," he stated. "It seems if I am fired for that, you should fire everyone else that did that and the supervisors who allowed it," Smith stated.

Ebersold stated he was about to do just that and proceeded with the motions cutting the district staff.

Burglary Charged in Looting of Station

A St. Louis man was arrested at 5:55 a.m. Wednesday after the Coachman Oil Co. Station, 12th Street and Edwardsville Road, was looted in a break-in.

Charged with burglary was Ralph James Holmes Jr., 32, whose police folded in the area.

Police were notified after a merchandise distributor found that an attempt was made to force the front door lock and that a front door glass to the confectionery had been removed and was broken in the driveway.

Taken from the station were a $300 cash register, $50 credit card machine, $50 coffee machine, $50 bus warmer, oil pressure and ammeter gauges, an undetermined amount of cigarettes, leather gloves and pizzas and two new $25 12-volt batteries, all valued at about $700.

Woman's Purse, $800 in Contents Stolen

Two youths about 17 years of age entered the Monday Maid Coin-Operated Laundry in Ponton Beach at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, took the purse of Mildred Pace, 735 Ashland Ave., Mitchell, from a stand, and fled.

The purse contained $130, a set of wedding and engagement rings worth $800, a $65 ladies' wristwatch, a checkbook, credit cards and key case. Mrs. Pace found some of the items along route 162 near the railroad tracks a short time later but the cash, rings and watch were among the items taken.

Legion Post 113 to Sell

A proposal to sell its present building at 24th Street and Madison Avenue and to purchase new quarters was approved at a special membership meeting of American Legion Post 113 Tuesday night. Negotiations for sale of the building to a church organization are now under way, the meeting was told.

The members authorized its board of trustees to negotiate for the purchase of new quarters. One location in the downtown area now is under consideration, Legion officials said.

Home Burglarized

Joe Lott, 921 Webster St., Madison, told police at 7:45 p.m. yesterday that items valued at about $75 were stolen from his home. Taken were a portable television, 13 shirts, two coats, a suit, two checks, two bed sheets and a bedspread.

4-Town Sewer Program, City Treatment Plant Upgrading Recommended by Planning Group

Following is a partial text of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission recommendation received Monday night — on how the Quad-City area can solve its sanitary sewer and secondary sewage treatment needs.

Provision of adequate waste disposal facilities constitutes a vital although frequently ignored factor in the development of a region, county or community.

Frequently as an area develops, sewer service is either not provided at all or is provided only for a particular area of new development without adequate consideration of future needs and surrounding areas.

Sewer service, when available, is often taken for granted until its problems become apparent to the individual in the form of personal inconveniences.

It has become evident that only through a regional approach can adequate service be provided for the present and future development while protecting the environment and keeping the costs within reason.

Problems related to the provision of sewer facilities are especially critical in the fringes of developing urban areas where improper or indiscriminate reliance on individual wells and septic tanks can create a potential health hazard.

Sound planning is essential to assure the coordinated development of utilities and the prevention of water resource pollution.

Planning of sewer service is also important to the encouragement of economic and orderly development of land, since the size and location of newly-constructed water and sewage facilities usually are principal determinants of the location, extent and type of land use and the quality of future development.

It is well known that poorly-served areas are bound to deteriorate and well-served areas will prosper. This is just as true of waste disposal systems as it is of transportation, education and crime prevention.

Therefore, a regional approach, recognizing the interrelationships of communities and land uses, is essential in selecting a Water Quality Management Plan for a complex urban area such as the Quad-Cities.

Most pollution of water resources is caused by inadequately treated municipal and industrial wastes.

The focus of the interim plan, therefore, is concerned primarily with improving the capacity and level of treatment, constructing and integrating systems, expanding service areas and providing for future economic development of the total area, all within the limits of existing standards, guidelines, goals and objectives formulated by the various agencies at local, state and federal governmental bodies.

In the Granite City study area, special attention is given to physical constraints to development.

Large segments of the Mississippi River flood plain (American Bottoms), which encompasses the entire Granite City study area, have extremely poor soil conditions.

These soils — Darwin, Kamak, Newart — are all characterized as subject to flooding and ponding.

These soils pose severe limitations for both farm and urban uses. In addition, some of these soils are characterized by a high clay content, high shrink-swell potential, seasonal high water tables, and very slow permeability, which are hazards to all uses.

The American Bottoms is also subject to considerable internal flooding and ponding. Knowledge as to the natural purpose of a flood plain emphasizes why problems occur to development located on it.

In Granite City, flooding from the Mississippi River poses little problem — as levees were constructed to hold back the surface waters.

Problems, however, do occur from flooding because of hillside run-off and poor internal drainage due to precipitation on the extremely flat surface, which has soil types with slow permeability and a high water table, together causing a highly water-saturated soil.

Finally, numerous large areas serve as natural catch basins for these flood waters and most of these areas take two to three days to drain.

High water tables also are prevalent throughout the Granite City study area. Excluding areas where intensive pumping of ground water occurs, the depth to the water table in most of the Granite City study area varies from surface to four or five feet in depth.

As a result, numerous homes and businesses do not have basements; or, if they do, then the use of sump pumps or other devices is necessary to prevent or remove water from the basements.

Construction cost of providing sewers is also greater because of a high water table. Lift stations must frequently be used and watertight pipes must be used to prevent infiltration.

Raising and lowering of the water table because of climatic changes also increases maintenance cost and causes a high probability for sewer system breakage.

Because of the many adverse factors, some areas were deemed unsuitable for development. Those areas have a combination of all of the above characteristics and are generally most severe between the Mississippi River bluff line (Illinois Route 157) and Illinois Route 111. This area extends from the northern boundary of the study area to the southern boundary.

In addition to a survey of the physical characteristics of the Granite City area, a study was made of population, economy and land use growth trends.

Projected development demand, based on a land development potential study prepared as a component of the water-sewer study, is a compilation of these projected growth trends.

In addition, previous planning reports prepared for Granite City and Madison County formed a basis for many of the projections and definition of the potential service areas.

Most development demand is expected to occur north and east of Granite City. In general, future projected development is projected north of the city to Interstate 270 and east to Illinois Route 111.

By 1960, a system or systems would have to serve a population of approximately 70,000 people, which includes the projected residential area denoted above and the projected growth of Granite City proper, industrial and commercial areas west and north of the city.

An inventory and analysis of the area's existing sewer systems and their service areas was made.

Many developed areas on the fringe of Granite City lack service or were served by small systems which were not providing the level of service needed to meet water quality standards.

The largest developed but unserved areas exist north and east of Granite City. However, some small unserved areas do exist west of the city and south of the City of Madison.

In addition, State Park Place in Nameoki Township, located in the southeastern part of the study area, is unserved at present and needs sewers.

One of the most serious problems facing the Granite City area is that the city cannot extend sewer lines outward into these unserved areas bordering its fringe area without further aggravating an already serious sewer problem.

This problem is brought about because the city has a partially combined system which cannot handle periods of heavy rainfall and thus backs up and causes considerable street flooding.

Because sanitary sewers flow into the combined system, further expansion of the sanitary system would increase the backup of the existing system. Apparently the most feasible way to relieve this problem would be to complete the stormwater separation which was started by the city several years ago. However, this approach appears at present to be excessively costly and therefore other solutions were sought.

As a result of all the factors indicated thus far, several configurations were explored in order to provide a solution which would meet the described problems and insure that plan objectives, both local and regional, were met.

Alternative No. 1 involves the construction of major trunk lines, interceptors, force mains and three lift stations for the purpose of collecting and transporting sewage from unserved areas north and east of Granite City southerly to the vicinity of 27th Street and then westerly through the city to the Canal near the Chain of Rocks Canal.

From this point, a final line would be constructed paralleling the Canal to the Granite City treatment plant. This alternative would serve all unserved areas or areas served by existing private systems for urban areas as Mitchell and Pontoon Beach and environs using the Granite City plant as a regional facility.

Construction of this system, excluding the cost of treatment plant improvements, has been estimated at approximately $10,500,000.

The advantage of this system is its capability of serving all existing unserved residential development and proposed commercial and industrial development.

Disadvantages of No. 1 include the cost — considerably higher than other alternatives — and the considerable disruption to the city through the construction of the system.

Alternative No. 2 proposes using the East Side Levee and Sanitary District's Lansdowne treatment plant for treatment of sewage generated from those unserved areas east and north of Granite City.

An existing interceptor sewer line of the Levee District is located one mile south of the Madison County line and a force main would be constructed from this point, paralleling the City of Madison and Granite City on the east to a point south of Pontoon Beach.

From this point, a series of trunk lines would be constructed northwardly to serve Pontoon Beach, the unserved area due north of Granite City and the urbanizing area of Mitchell and development adjacent to Interstate 270.

In this proposal, the Granite City treatment plant would upgrade its facility to meet secondary level treatment and serve the City of Granite City and the industrial area paralleling the western part of the city.

The cost of this alternative, excluding the cost of improving the treatment plant, is estimated to be $5,618,000.

The advantage of this system is that it costs less than other approaches.

Disadvantages are that the proposal does not encourage full development of industrial areas — and the main line paralleling the eastern portion of Granite City serves no purpose except that of transporting sewage because connections would be excessively expensive into such a force main.

Alternative No. 3 proposes to use the existing Granite City treatment plant as a regional facility and construct an interceptor-trunk line that would encircle the city on the west and north and thereby be capable of serving the urbanizing area known as Mitchell (located in the vicinity of Interstate 270 and Illinois Route 203).

In addition, this section of the proposed trunk line would have the potential to serve industrial areas which it would traverse and commercial development paralleling Interstate 270.

Branching southwardly — at a point 6,000 feet south of the Chain of Rocks Bridge — and then eastwardly to the Village of Pontoon Beach, a gravity main is proposed which could serve the unserved areas north and east of Granite City.

Alternative No. 3, which includes upgrading the Granite City plant from primary to secondary, construction of interceptor and trunk lines and collector systems for those unserved areas around Granite City, excluding the cost of improving the treatment plant, is estimated to be $7,601,000.

The interceptors would not only serve existing residential development — which is presently unserved and uses septic systems that in most cases cannot operate properly because of the high water table and poor soil conditions — but also could serve the industrial and commercial uses which are proposed by the Madison County and Granite City comprehensive plans.

This proposal is most consistent with implementing the comprehensive plans for the area and no disadvantages can be noted at the present time.

After careful study and analysis, Alternative No. 3 was selected as the recommended plan for the Granite City study area.

This plan was found to be not only capable of providing the most cost-effective system possible for the area, but also was capable of meeting short-range and long-range planning objectives.

In order to insure that this plan is effectively implemented, this Commission offers the following recommendations:

(1) In order to provide for a regional treatment facility that would meet state effluent standards and have capacity to serve the Granite City service area, it is recommended that the existing Granite City plant be upgraded to provide secondary treatment and the capacity be enlarged to treat 33 MGD.

(2) It is also recommended that the interceptor and trunk sewer system be constructed as shown on the recommended plan and that this system be used to serve only that service area as indicated in the plan. Estimates of population, commercial and industrial loadings are on file with this Commission.

(3) In order to obtain the most cost-effective collection and treatment of wastewater possible, this Commission recommends that all existing public and private treatment facilities designated as being in the Granite City service area be phased out and their collection systems be connected to the proposed regional treatment facility in Granite City as soon as the recommended interceptor and trunk sewers have been constructed.

By utilizing the economic advantages possible in the operation of a large-scale regional system, the costs for sewage treatment in the secondary level treatment and serve the City of Granite City and the industrial area paralleling the western part of the city.

The cost of this alternative, excluding the cost of improving the treatment plant, is estimated to be $5,618,000.

The advantage of this system is that it costs less than other approaches.

Disadvantages are that the proposal does not encourage full development of industrial areas — and the main line paralleling the eastern portion of Granite City serves no purpose except that of transporting sewage because connections would be excessively expensive into such a force main.

Alternative No. 3 proposes to use the existing Granite City treatment plant as a regional facility and construct an interceptor-trunk line that would encircle the city on the west and north and thereby be capable of serving the urbanizing area known as Mitchell (located in the vicinity of Interstate 270 and Illinois Route 203).

In addition, this section of the proposed trunk line would have the potential to serve industrial areas which it would traverse and commercial development paralleling Interstate 270.

The interceptors would not only serve existing residential development — which is presently unserved and uses septic systems that in most cases cannot operate properly because of the high water table and poor soil conditions — but also could serve the industrial and commercial uses which are proposed by the Madison County and Granite City comprehensive plans.

PLANNING NURSING PROGRAM. Virginia McKenna (center), media specialist for the Evanston Public Schools, discussed essential components of a community-based resource learning center at a recent meeting at SIU-SW. Elk's Law-Order Week, Awards Dinner in May

In a proclamation issued this week by the mayors of the Quad-Cities, the week of May 14 to May 20 has been designated "Elk's Law and Order Week."

The official document, signed by Mayors Donald Partney of Granite City, Dr. John E. Lee, Venice, Otto Krober, Pontoon Beach and Mike Sasey, Madison, was presented to Granite City Elk's Lodge 1063 officers this week.

Highlighting the week-long observance will be the second annual "Law and Order Banquet," sponsored by the local Elk's Lodge on Tuesday, May 16 at Charlie's Restaurant.

The program will include a guest speaker and presentation of awards for outstanding and meritorious achievements to local law enforcement officers. Tickets for the $10-a-plate affair may be obtained at the Granite City Elk's Lodge, 1329 Nindringhaus Ave. A capacity crowd attended last year's dinner.

The mayoral proclamation reads in part: "Whereas, the members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks realize the necessity to preserve the Constitution of the United States of America and the Bill of Rights, which has served to establish the finest system of government in the world, and through May 20, 1972 as the Elk's Law and Order Week.

"Now, therefore, We, the Mayors of the Quad-Cities do hereby proclaim the week of May 14 through May 20, 1972 as the Elk's Law and Order Week."

"Whereas, they deplore the presence of crime in our streets, violence and disorder on our campuses and demonstrations and disorders which bring about malicious destruction of property and danger to the personal safety of our people, and

"Whereas, they stand for discipline of those who defy our laws with the knowledge that public order is essential to achieve a solution to our domestic problems, and

"Whereas, they call for the full support of their membership for our law enforcement agencies and courts and their full cooperation in the enforcement of their duties in the prosecution of those who have caused, instigated or aided violations of our laws, and

"Whereas, the Elks Lodge 1063 of the Quad-Cities, County of Madison, State of Illinois, has chosen the week of May 14

Plan Learning Centers At Nursing Division

Southern Illinois University - Southwestern's Nursing Division is studying plans to set up facilities in resource learning centers in selected sites in central and southern Illinois.

Aim of the project, according to Dean Lucille McClelland, is to plan an experimental component within the existing nursing education program. It will enable registered nurses to complete requirements for a baccalaureate degree in nursing without being away from their families and jobs for an extended period of time to attend campus classes.

Persons from possible project sites and community leaders working with registered nurses met at SIU-SW to discuss the project. Virginia McKenna, media specialist from the Evanston public schools, was a consultant at the meeting.

The Nursing Division received a one-year federal planning grant for $33,800 for this experiment in education for registered nurses. Dean McClelland is being assisted in the project by Mrs. E. H. (Grace) Madison.

Legion Post 113 Honors 50-Year Members

Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, a lifelong resident of Granite City and a charter member of Tri-City American Legion Auxiliary Unit 113, was honored during the weekend at a special celebration which marked the 50th birthday of the American Legion and the 50th anniversary of the Tri-City Legion Auxiliary.

More than 200 Legionnaires, auxiliary members and their families attended the traditional birthday dinner-dance held at the Post 113 Legion Hall, 24th Street and Madison Avenue.

To commemorate the occasion, Mrs. Breckenridge was presented a lifetime membership in the auxiliary, a 50-year pin and card and a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

She also was complimented with a "This Is Your Life" program, narrated by Mrs. Minnie Grob.

Mrs. Eureka Breckenridge, the honoree's sister-in-law, who joined the unit a short time after it was formed in 1922, was presented a 50-year pin and a bouquet of roses.

Others honored were Joseph Coleman, who received a 50-year award and Mrs. Grob, the recipient of a 40-year pin. Frank Milster, an honorary member of Post 113, was presented an "outstanding service award."

Still active in the auxiliary, Mrs. Mary Breckenridge served as president of the Past Presidents' Parley in 1970-71, the second time she has held that office.

She was a member of the veterans' organization when Post 113 was chartered and aided in securing the auxiliary charter on Jan. 30, 1922.

Mrs. Breckenridge served as auxiliary president in 1926-27 and was the first past president to be elected into the Past Presidents' Parley, founded several years later.

She has held every office within the organization and for four years, worked diligently as chairman of a committee which helped to place children of disabled World War I veterans in a veteran-sponsored facility at Normal, Ill., now known as the Illinois Soldier's and Sailor's Home.

The honoree is the widow of the late Chester A. Breckenridge, a World War I veteran and a lifelong resident of the Quad-Cities. Mr. Breckenridge, who was employed 49 years at General Steel Industries prior to his death, was a charter member of Post 113.

Their children are C. H. Breckenridge of Bakersfield, Calif., and Ralph (Mary E.) Anderson, a teacher in the local school system for 20 years.

Also an active worker in auxiliary affairs over the past five decades, Mrs. Eureka Breckenridge likewise served as president of the local unit. Her husband, the late Elzie Breckenridge, was a veteran of the first World War and a Legion charter member.

For several years, Mrs. Eureka Breckenridge guided a committee of auxiliary members who gathered at her home to make and dress dolls for children in the veterans' home at Chatham, Ill.

She also has held numerous chairmanships in the unit.

Presentation of awards at the weekend celebration was made by A. Bart Harris and Harry Ellis, Post 113 commander. Beverly Edwards, a member of the Junior Auxiliary, presided as a page.

Ellis commended the auxiliary for its efforts and presented the unit with a "meritorious service" award. The citation was accepted by Mrs. Kate Burke, unit president, who displayed a large birthday cake prepared for the occasion.

The program concluded with a brief talk by Robert Douglas, past 2nd District commander, who reported on membership and past activities.

Mrs. Eads Heads Gardenaires Club

Newly elected officers of the Gardenaires Club were installed in ceremonies conducted by Mrs. J. Reed Jones, of Collinsville, a past president of Lakeview Garden Club and a past officer of the executive board of District V, Garden City of Illinois.

Officers for the 1972-73 club year are Mrs. C. E. Eads, president; Mrs. Charles Kohl, vice-president; Mrs. Glenn, treasurer; and Mrs. A. Malotki Jr., secretary.

The installation meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Abe Shannon. Plans also were made for Mrs. Malotki, Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Eads to attend an annual District V meeting today in Belleville.

Mrs. Eads announced the study course for the coming year will feature "herbs." Each member was given a decorative container to store harvested plant material, to be used in exchange project at the conclusion of the year.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Roy E. Norton, 213 Amos Ave., attended the funeral this week of his aunt, Mrs. J. J. Maher, 104 of Kansas City, Mo. She died Sunday at her home.

Youth Revival at Grace Baptist

A youth revival at Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St., will take place Friday through Sunday under the leadership of the church's youth department.

Keynoting the services will be Don Price, a youth evangelist from Ramsey, Ill. The public is invited to attend all programs, the Rev. Louis Brinker, pastor, announced today.

Friday evening's opening session will be "parents night" when young people are being urged to "bridge the generation gap" by bringing their parents to the program, the pastor said.

A fellowship hour will follow.

On Saturday evening, a "old fashioned night" is planned, with those attending asked to wear long dresses or bib overalls. Homemade ice cream will be served after the services.

The revival will conclude with the Sunday School session on Sunday morning, rather than following the regular worship service, the minister noted.

Mr. Price is a graduate of SIU-Carbondale campus and has a farm machinery distributorship. He is 23 years old, unmarried and has conducted beach and street ministries in Florida and Texas, the most recent one in Galveston, Tex.

Bill Young of Venice will serve as music minister during the revival. He is a student at St. Louis Baptist College and has been featured drummer for the Illinois State Youth Evangelical conference and the Association of Youth Choirs.

Grace Baptist Church is in a full-time bus ministry program and has increased attendance from 250 to 475 members in the past year by providing transportation to area residents who wish to attend services.

They have selected the name Julie Ann for the new arrival. Quads weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces.

Mrs. Worthen is the former Karen Langley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Langley, 2828 Yale Drive. The infant is the Langley's first grandchild.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Worthen, 3222 Aubrey Ave.

The father is employed at Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Shower Honors Karen Logue

A pre-wedding shower honoring Miss Karen Logue was given this week by Mrs. Royal Yardley in her home in St. Louis.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Jim George who planned the games.

Wedding bells were used to decorate the gift table and buffet serving table.

Three winning prizes were Mrs. Donna Patterson, Miss Debi Thompson, Mrs. Mary Logue and Mrs. John Logue.

Other guests included Mesdames Janice Arnold and daughter, Cindy, Bobby Dan Shore, Marie Stone, Curtis Mason and son, Damon, John Dohi, Misses Paula George, Janet Stuart, Candy Werth, Linda Logue and Phyllis Logue.

Miss Logue also was given a personal shower earlier this month by Mrs. Donna Patterson, Miss Debi Thompson and Miss Janet Stuart.

$263,000 GC Intersection Improvements Authorized

By HARRY BARNES

Press-Record Staff Writer

Federal and state highway officials have approved a Granite City program of traffic safety improvements at five major intersections under which the city will receive 62% of the construction costs in federal and state grants.

Mayor Donald P. Barnes informed the city council Monday night.

The program was developed under the federal TOPICS program, which provides funds for projects specifically designed to increase safety factors of highways, roads and street intersections with arterial route connections. The city's share of such projects may be financed with motor fuel tax funds, the mayor said.

As a result, Mayor Partney announced, Granite City will be able to make $263,000 worth of improvements at the five intersections proposed in the program at a cost of only $86,500 to the city. These improvements, he said, will include, in a variety of plans at the five separate locations, intersection widening, addition of left turn lanes, installation of traffic signals, improved lighting and other work of a safety nature.

List Improvements

The five approved projects include:

Madison Avenue at 20th Street — city share $8,750, state share, $8,750 and federal share $17,500, total $35,000.

Madison Avenue at Niedringhaus Avenue — city share $17,500, federal share $17,500, total $35,000.

Madison Avenue at 23rd Street — city share $20,000 and federal share $20,000, total $40,000.

Madison Avenue at 27th Street — city share $30,000 and federal share $30,000, total $60,000.

Nameoki and Johnson roads — city share $23,250, state share $23,250 and federal share $46,500, total $93,000.

Hearing April 12 on Pollution Settlement

A public hearing on the proposed settlement between Granite City Steel Co. and the Environmental Protection Agency will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 12, at the Civil Defense Building, 1411 Nineteenth St.

The $4,240,000 agreement, reached after hearings last fall, was approved by the Illinois Pollution Control Board and the hearing was authorized.

The program includes $4,000,000 for air pollution control equipment, and a $150,000 scholarship fund for students in environmental studies at the University of Illinois. The company will be required to post $500,000 in surety bonds to guarantee completion of the program if it is approved following the hearing.

Prather to Get Scoreboard

Lettermen's and Pep Clubs at Prather Junior High School plan to donate a new scoreboard for the school gym, the Board of Education was informed at a meeting Monday night.

The clubs feel that the present board is insufficient and has been a maintenance problem in the past couple of years, according to a letter for Victor Buehler and Thomas Turner, club sponsors, and Principal Gilbert Walmsley.

Installation is planned for the summer to prevent problems for physical education classes this spring.

Plan Synthetic Turf For Stadium at SIU

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale plans to carpet its 36-year-old football field with synthetic turf in time for the 1972 season.

It will mark "the first step in a proposed $1,800,000 renovation of McAndrew Stadium, the money to come from a student fee financed development fund that has been building since 1968."

The campus architect's office will call in bids April 20 for synthetic turf installation as well as other work tied in with first-stage renovation improvements. They include new goal posts, underground electrical installations and relocation of pole vault and broadjump runways.

Director Donald N. Boydston said a new scoreboard also may be installed for the 1972 season "if alumni of the institution and the SIU Alumni Association can raise the funds."

Golfing Cougars Open Season in Florida

The varsity golf team of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern opened its season this week with a trip to Florida.

Coach Harry Gallatin's nine-man squad appeared at South Florida Monday, Florida Southern Tuesday and entered the four-day Miami University Invitational yesterday.

The first home meet will be April 11, with St. Louis U. following visits to Eastern Illinois U., Washington U. and Western Illinois U. in early April.

"It'll be a rebuilding year," according to Gallatin. "We have only two lettermen back, Marty Baber (Florissant, Mo.) and Bob Biarkis (Edwardsville), and with the tough schedule we have, plus the loss by graduation of our three best golfers of last season, it'll be rough going."

Others on the squad are David Roulund, Granite City; Lee Agnew, Belleville; Richard Giles, Collinsville; Robin Johnson, Charleston, W. Va.; and Marty Kelly, Russell Pierce and Terry Stauch of Belleville.

The team will be shooting for its third straight post-season NCAA tournament bid.

"Our main meets this season," Gallatin said, "will be triangulars slated April 28 and 29 at Sunset Hills and O'Fallon."

be situated at the north end of the playing field, opposite its present location.

Willard Hart, campus architect, said electrical work will be designed to tie in with public address and field-press box telephone improvements planned in the second stage.

Contractors will bid on two commercial brands of synthetic turf, AstroTurf and Tartan Turf. Architect's estimates on the entire first stage project come to $130,000.

Hart said an outside engineering firm will be employed on a consulting basis to complete a design package for the second stage. Included will be addition of some 17,000 more permanent seats. With the existing grandstand and temporary seating, the stadium's total capacity would be boosted to about 24,000.

Other improvements hoped for by 1973 are a new press box, restrooms, refreshment areas and revamped lighting.

Trojan Trackmen Lose Close Dual Meet Here

Madison High School's trackmen put up a good effort against Mascoutah here Tuesday but yielded in the final events to the determined Mascoutah effort, losing 50½ to 51½.

The Trojans might have salvaged the meet with a good effort in pole vault competition but high winds kept the valuers on the ground.

Madison placed competitors first in seven events at the meet and Trojan Carl Campbell tied Mascoutah's Joe Albright for the top high jump, each clearing 5 feet, 4 inches.

Chandler First
In the 100-yard dash, Ed Chandler turned in a time of 10.4 seconds to give the Madison team one first, and Joe Young added to the points with a third.

Emory Wilson crossed the line in 36.5 seconds to win the 400-yard dash with Madison teammate Carl Campbell finishing third in 59.4 seconds.

In the 180-yard low hurdles, Harvey Lee outdied all efforts at the meet, finishing in 22.5 seconds, and Ed Chandler was tops in the long jump with a leap of 18 feet, 5½ inches. Quincy Canada finished behind Chandler with a jump of 17 feet, 10½ inches.

Relay Teams Strong
The Madison relay teams were strong as the 880-yard squad of Roger Glasper, Larry Evans, John Newsum and Chandler finished first in 1 minute, 41.5 seconds, and the mile relay squad of Evans, Campbell, Newsum and Wilson claimed the top honors with a 3 minute, 55.1 second effort.

In the field, Royce Boyd placed first in the shot put with a fling of 43 feet, 10 inches. Robin Pritchard backed up the effort with a 41-foot throw, good enough for third.

Other Trojan efforts included Joe Young's 220-yard dash in 26.3 seconds for second place with Lament Garrett in third one second behind, Kevin Jackson's third place 880-yard run in 2 minutes, 21.7 seconds, and Chris Stanley's 19 second effort in the high hurdles which put him in a tie for third place.

Edwardville will compete in a freshman and sophomore meet at the Trojan track at 3:30 p.m. today.

Warrior Bats Hot, Win Opener by 11-1

With excellent pitching and some heavy bats, the baseball Warriors of Granite City High School took no mercy on Breeses Mater-Del in an 11-1 season opener on the local diamond Tuesday.

Warrior Jack Scarborough tagged the first hit of the season and stole second base to trigger a four-run rally in the first inning. Jerry Duncan homered, scoring catcher Tim Lyerla.

The Warriors scored one run in the fourth, and three in the fifth and last innings as the 10-run rule ended the game. Bob Wiggins tagged a four-bagger with Duncan and Steve Burdge on base for the Warriors in the fifth.

Pitcher Vic Resnack gained the victory. He pitched the first four innings and fanned seven. John Stanton hurled the fifth inning and Del was held to one hit, a triple in the fourth. The run scored on a wild pitch.

Duncan was three-for-three at the plate.

The Warriors travel to Madison to meet the Trojans at 4 p.m. today.

Point Recount Gives GCHS Track Victory

Granite City High School's trackmen earned top honors in the O'Fallon triangular meet with Belleville East Tuesday after a quick recount of points.

Belleville East has been named the winner of the meet until Warrior Coach Don Miller called for the recount.

The local Warriors totaled 97 points, Belleville East had 94 and O'Fallon 35.

Seventh Granite City track and field competitors gave outstanding performances, including mile run in 4 minutes, 46 seconds, and Brad Hiles' shot put of 49 feet, 3 inches, were enough to win.

The Warriors claimed second spots in the 220, 440, 880 and mile running events, the high hurdles and the discus.

The Granite City squad will travel to the Normal indoor meet Wednesday. They also are preparing for the Alton Relays Saturday, April 1.

Greg Becker won the 440-yard dash in 53.8 seconds.

In field events, Robert Kratz pole vaulted 12 feet, 6 inches and Tom Patterson cleared 5 feet, 10 inches to the high jump for victories.

Jim Robbins' discus toss of 129 feet, and Brad Hiles' shot put of 49 feet, 3 inches, were enough to win.

The Warriors claimed second spots in the 220, 440, 880 and mile running events, the high hurdles and the discus.

Cougar Diamond Men Off to Start in Florida

Ramping under sunny Florida skies, the baseball Cougars of Jacksonville University Southwestern opened their season by defeating Kent State twice, 4-3 and 11-1, while being flattened by the host team of the Jacksonville University Classic 5-2 and 7-1 in twin bills Monday and Tuesday.

The Cougars then moved into Valdosta (Ga.) State yesterday where they were tripped 5-4 in the first game and managed a 5-5 tie in a seven-inning second game called because of darkness.

Playing both Kent and Jacksonville on the same days, Coach Roy Lee got effective pitching from Granite City's Don Rains before he was relieved by the score tied at 2-2 in the opener against Kent.

The knot was cracked in the eighth inning when right fielder Ron Rohlfing blasted a 390-foot home run over the right field fence. Mike Altaria singled home a pair of runs in the sixth inning to give the Cougars a 3-1 lead.

Dale Wilderspin, who took over the mound, was credited with the win. Roger Belshe of Granite City and Tim Summers worked behind the plate.

The Cougars had no difficulty with Kent the following day, scoring five runs in the first and fifth innings and one in the fourth while compiling 12 hits in a six-inning game.

Mike Dickey pitched a two-hitter, while Joe Crenshaw drove in three runs. Summers and Willis Bundy caught.

Later attempts in the Jacksonville game Monday were insufficient as the Cougars crossed the plate once in each of the seventh and eighth innings in catch-up ball. Tim Middleton started on the mound and was succeeded by Stan Hawkins in the fifth. Sam Stewart in the seventh and Steve Malone in the eighth. Belshe and Bill Campbell caught.

Jacksonville's Dolphins, stretching their season's record to 12-1, wrapped up the Tuesday game with three runs in the first off of hurler Ken Demarets who was replaced by Stewart in the seventh. Belshe worked behind the plate. The Cougars were out 10 to 9.

Wilderspin went all the way in a seven-inning game at Valdosta where the Georgia team came from behind with three runs in the bottom of the seventh after the Cougars produced a four-run fifth inning effort.

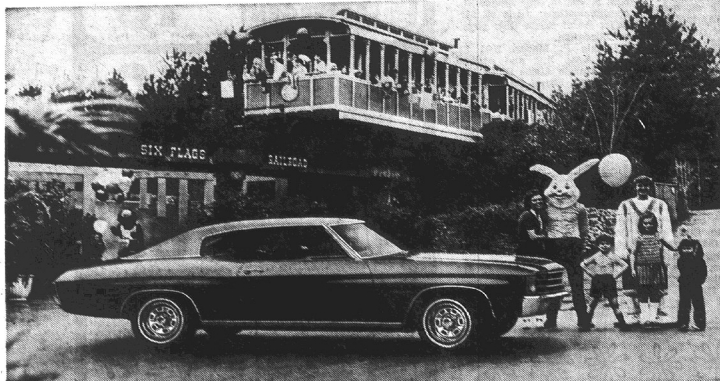

SIU-SW was out 7 to 5 and contributed six errors to the inning effort. Belshe again was behind the plate.

SIU-SW managed a tie in the second game with three runs in the top of the seventh and was aided by six Valdosta bobbles. The Cougars were out 9 to 8. Malone started on the mound and was succeeded by Hawkins in the sixth inning and Middleton in the seventh. Campbell and Summers shared relieving duties.

The Cougars used today to travel in preparation for a three-game stint at Spring Hill College Friday, Saturday and Sunday and another road game Monday at Arkansas State U.

We want this summer to be the best summer you ever had.

Mercury Sport Coupe at Six Flags Over Georgia Amusement Park.

Have you noticed how many young families get carried away with Chevelle?

They get carried away to lands of history and fantasy like Six Flags Over Georgia, enjoying a ride as soft as cotton candy and handling as precise as if their Chevilles were on rails.

We built quality into Chevelle from end of its mid-size wheelbase to the other because we want it to be the best car you ever owned. For example, we put Full Coil suspension and cushions of rubber between the frame and body to keep noise out of the passenger compartment. Plus a sturdy steel guard beam in every door, double panels in the door, in the hood, in the deck lid. And up inside the fenders—inner fenders that help protect against corrosion.

There's also an engine that operates on regular, no-lead or low-lead fuel, a battery with sealed terminals on the side so corrosion won't build up and a new front seat belt system that reminds you to buckle up.

Just try a Chevelle once and even those "wild Indians" at Six Flags couldn't tear you away from it. Have fun.

And there are two more nice things about Nova: In a 1971 survey of independent mechanics, conducted by Motor Service and Service Station Management, Nova was voted the car with the least mechanical problems. And the easiest to service. And that's economy in the truest sense of the word.

No doubt about it—we want your new Nova to be the best car you ever owned.

area will be substantially lessened.

The method of financing any of the additional costs that would be incurred by Granite City in order to provide this needed service will have to be negotiated by all parties concerned.

If no agreement can be reached on the preferred plan, Alternative No. 3, it is recommended that alternative No. 2 be implemented.

Alternative No. 2 would require the Granite City treatment plant to be upgraded and sized to meet the needs of the city. Unincorporated areas surrounding the city would be served by the East Side Levee District's Lansdowne plant.

(4) Because of the severe physical problems in the area (internal ponding area, flooding, high water table, etc.), it is recommended that a study be undertaken to determine the extent to which this problem will affect the implementation of this plan.

This study should not only provide decision-makers with a clear-cut picture of the inherent physical problems of the area, but should also make recommendations for the adoption of appropriate codes and ordinances so that this regional approach for providing sewer treatment facilities can be effected.

(5) Because this area is subject to the various drainage problems associated with flood plain topography and soil conditions, it is recommended that stormwater collection facilities be included as a requirement in subdivision regulations (city and county), and that those existing urban areas that do not possess adequate stormwater drainage systems be required to install such systems.

It is further recommended that Granite City should continue its program of relieving its combined sewers.

It is also felt that the disposal of the collected stormwater should be made the responsibility of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District or another appropriate public body.

By insuring that stormwater will be effectively collected and disposed of, this Commission feels that the health problems which occur from stormwater and sanitary sewer infiltration into ground water supplies will be greatly abated — and the constantly high public and private expenditures needed to alleviate other stormwater problems can be lessened.

(6) Lastly, it is recommended that all unsewered areas be provided sewage collection systems as quickly as possible so that continued reliance on septic tanks or other system, which cannot operate effectively in poor soil and high water table conditions, can be halted.

Although most of the unsewered areas lie on the perimeter of Granite City, other urbanized areas that should be immediately sewered include State Park Place, State Park Place East, the Arlington Heights-Holiday Mobile Home Court and Eagle Park Acres.

Favorable Bond Market Saves SIU $6 Million

An unusually favorable bond market has handed Southern Illinois University and Illinois taxpayers a $6 million rent saving on two buildings now under construction.

SIU Treasurer Robert Gallego said the rent cut was effected when the Illinois Building Authority was able to sell bonds on a package of state projects at an interest rate slightly below five per cent. Included in the package was the $10,850,000 Humanities-Social Sciences Building on the Carbondale campus and a $1,885,000 instructional building on SIU's Springfield medical campus.

The IBA had set a yearly rental of $65,235 on the Carbondale building and $168,535 for the Springfield project.

Because bonds sold at such a low interest rate, the state authority asked for amended leases that will chop the rents sharply.

SIU's Board of Trustees happily approved the revised leases. Over a 24-year period, the Humanities-Social Sciences annual rent dropped to $814,610 a year, while the Springfield building tab slid to $142,790 a year.

The IBA was created to finance state building projects by issuing tax exempt bonds. Public institutions such as SIU then lease the buildings from the IBA, with rentals going to retire construction bonds.

Governor Thanks Teen Club for Membership

The Kirkpatrick Homes Teen Club has received a letter from Governor Richard B. Ogilvie thanking the club members for a guest membership which was presented the governor personally during the Governor's Conference on Youth at Belleville. He also enclosed an autographed photograph.

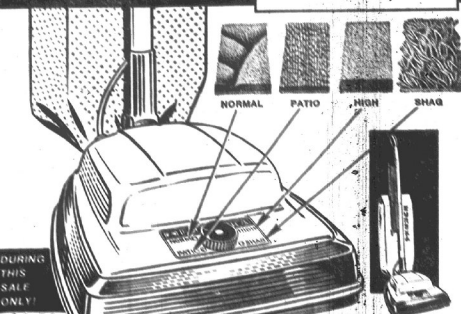

The honorary membership was given to the governor by Otis L. Edwards, manager of the teen club. Edwards said the governor also sent the club a copy of his address to the youth conference.

Site for Salvation Army Building Donated

The Salvation Army Advisory Board Monday night agreed to accept a donation of two acres of land on Maryville Road, offered by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Morrison as the site of a new building previously planned for construction on Johnson Road.

The board will decide at a later meeting whether it will keep the property on Johnson Road or make plans to sell it. Chris Pashoff, president, conducted the business meeting and led a discussion on tentative plans for a capital campaign and a ground-breaking ceremony within a year at the Maryville Road location.

Also discussed was the counseling service provided by the Salvation Army at their office for unwed mothers, and other related programs.

Some Misunderstanding
Captain Ronald Kerley, officer in charge, announced the service is meeting a need in the community. He said, "There has been some misunderstanding concerning the counseling on abortion. The Salvation Army does not advocate abortion but if a person comes to the office for information they will be referred to the proper agency or organization."

The board members were taken on a tour of the new recreation center in the basement of the Citadel, 1421 Nineteenth St. It will be opened officially after Easter. The young people of the Salvation Army have been painting and redecorating the center. Equipment including pool tables and shuffle boards have been purchased from funds of the "old newsboys" project.

A rummage sale will be held at the Citadel Saturday. All proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of the redecorating.

Handicraft Program
"We also plan to install a kiln for both the young people and senior citizens to use in a handicraft program," Capt. Kerley told the group.

In view of plans for building expansion the board discussed a revision of the advisory board. They plan to contact inactive members and if they are unable to continue working with the group, new members who are able to become actively involved in all phases of the Salvation Army programs will be considered.

Captain Kerley also informed the board the Salvation Army has received a check for $5,000 from the settlement of the Irene Dean estate. The money will be applied to the building fund.

Kiwanis Club Hears Conservation Program

A program on "Conservation" specifically involving the wildlife sanctuary around Carlyle, Rend and Shelbyville lake areas was presented at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday night by Paul Moore, District Area Botanist and Wildlife Research manager for Carlyle Lake area.

As a feature of National Wildlife Week, they presented slides of the lake area and a movie on how farmers have planted hedgerows to protect small animals and raised certain grasses to provide food and cover for the animals. They stressed that good hunting and fishing always will be available as long as rules are obeyed by hunters. They said dams have been built in small areas to provide water areas for ducks, geese and other wild fowl.

Injured in Accident

Madonna Lorasco, 29, of 2039 Fourth St., Madison, suffered minor injuries when an auto in which she was riding, driven by Eugene T. Lorasco, same address, struck the auto of Howard R. Wigger, 2018 Missouri Ave., parked in front of his home at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. Lorasco reported he was forced toward the curb by a tractor-trailer truck which crossed the center line.

Girl Injured

Renee Gregory, 12, of 3008 Kirkpatrick Homes, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 6:55 p.m. Tuesday for cuts to the wrist inflicted by one of two boys with a knife at a laundromat at 6 p.m. at 2606 Nameoki Road. She told police the boys, 11 or 12, had tried to run her out by pulling her hair.

Fire Spreads, Burns Vacant Shacks, Cars

A blaze started accidentally by a workman at Walton's Junk Yard on Garner Road, Kerr Island, spread into weeds and destroyed several vacant shacks and junked cars at 11:30 p.m. yesterday.

Venice volunteer firemen were on the scene until 12:45 a.m. today. The shacks were on the property purchased by the state as right-of-way for the proposed extension of Federal Aid Route 151.

Sister Will Seek Pontoon Hearing

A letter to be presented to the Pontoon Beach village board tonight requests a "private trial" if there is a public hearing, or a public hearing in a large auditorium with assembly citizens, magazines, newspapers and television stations.

The letter from Sister Mary Cornelia Hawkins objects to her suspension as a village special police officer. She asks for an apology to her family "who suffered insults and embarrassment because of false publicity" and an apology to the community and religious order due to "derogatory insinuations." She assails alleged political influence on police policies.

MRS. CHARLES EDWIN SMITH, the former Miss Colleen Campbell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell of East St. Louis, who was married at the Assembly of God Church in Washington Park.

Miss Colleen Campbell, Charles Smith Are Wed

Miss Colleen Campbell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell, 418 N. 89th St., East St. Louis and Charles Edwin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Smith, 720 N. 60th St., East St. Louis, were united in marriage on March 18 at the Assembly of God Church, 5800 Forest Blvd., Washington Park. Grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Campbell, reside at 1314 Granite Ave., Granite City.

Lighted tapers illuminated the church for the 7 o'clock double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Louis Mattea.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Chantilly lace gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, featuring a scalloped neckline traced with sequins, and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt of scalloped ruffles swept into a full cathedral train.

A profile headpiece of Chantilly lace, trimmed with pearls and crystals, secured a three-tiered bouffant veil of imported bridal illusion.

Miss Diana Campbell, maid of honor, and Miss Carol Bradshaw and Miss Nancy Bayless, bridesmaids, were attired in identical formal length dresses. Their frocks were created of apricot dacron organza over taffeta designed with Empire bodices, long full sleeves and high necklines. White daisies encircled the high waists and the A-line skirts were slightly gathered in the back.

The attendants were matching apricot maline headpieces embellished with pearls.

The groom chose Les Smith as best man. Groomsmen were Terry Emerson, Russell Fete and Scott Johnson. Joe Steinhauer sealed the guests.

A reception was held at the VFW Hall in East St. Louis following the ceremony.

Mr. Smith is employed as a carman with the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis.

Sacred Music Concert Sunday at GCHS

The Vocal Music Department of Granite City High School will present a "Concert of Sacred Music" in celebration of the Lenten season at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in the high school cafeteria.

Participating will be the Advanced Mixed Chorus and Cantata. The latter is an all school music ensemble. The public is invited to attend.

The concert itself will be a study in many styles and approaches to sacred music, Paul Mabrey, Granite City High School's director of vocal music, explained.

The program will range from "Amazing Grace," a white southern spiritual sung by the Cantata, to Schubert's "Mass in G," performed by the Advanced Mixed Chorus. Purpose of the diversified selections is to show sacred music from all styles and periods, Mabrey said.

"Mass in G," by Franz Schubert, will be the major work performed in the program. The chorus will be assisted by a string orchestra to include both junior and senior high school students.

Miss Nancy Leo, string instrument instructor for the Granite City School District, has prepared the orchestra and will take part in the program. Mabrey will conduct the group. Four of the five movements of the Mass will be presented, omitting the Sanctus segment, Mabrey said. Soloists will be Susan Kathy Davis, Marie Bellanski, Steve Sturdivant, Ruth Ann Head, Daniel Boyette and Donna Cockrell.

Other music to be presented at Sunday's concert will include three Negro spirituals, two Mozart motets, The Lord's Prayer, and an arrangement of Bach's "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring." Violin accompaniment by Jon Grindstaff will be featured in the Bach arrangement, the director said.

Theft from Auto

Four or five stereo tapes, a .38 caliber revolver and a set of golf clubs were stolen from the auto of Walt Aene, 3211 Edgewood Ave., while it was parked at 2401 Delmar Ave. during the night, he reported at 1 a.m. Wednesday. Entry was gained by breaking a small side window.

Two Autos Collide

Autos driven by Deborah Ann Tomlin, 1714 Delmar Ave., and Mary Louise Worthen, 37 Jan-day Lane, were in an accident at 2:15 p.m. Monday at the Nameoki Road entrance to the Granite City High School parking lot.

By MARION BARTOSIAK

Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Board of Education discussed restoration of the high school auditorium and the proposed development of a large mobile home park in Chouteau Township during a meeting Monday night.

Tully Heubner, director of buildings and grounds, told the board that two floor plans for the auditorium, damaged by fire, have been completed by Gabriel & Dulgeroff and called for an early decision to let contracts and permit start of construction as soon as school is dismissed in June. Under one plan, he said, the seating capacity could be increased from the former 900 to 1,100 but it would include a balcony, resulting in poor acoustics under it.

An alternate plan would create an arena effect without the balcony and would provide 707 seats with proper acoustics and facilities, he said. Additional space could provide for faculty stations, he said.

Heubner said the faculty committee favored the arena effect but called for the assistance of the board to complete the plans. Board members named to the auditorium committee were A. L. Metcalf, Donald Stucke and George Moore.

The board received letters from Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, a member of a land trust interested in developing 773 acres which would include a luxury mobile home park, an apartment complex, recreation area and business and industrial developments, and from Margaret McQuade, chairman of a group of taxpayers opposed to it.

Sasyk refuted claims that it would be an increased burden on taxpayers and cited county records which he said show 1.2 children of school age in six mobile homes in the county.

Land Trust

which new total 2,505. He also claimed that taxes on the homes would leave a surplus over the cost of educating additional children, comparing it to subsidized low cost government housing which provides much less income.

Students Stabilized

Sasyk said the student population in the district is stabilized at 14,000. He also pointed to the loss of jobs and lack of new employers in recent years, and said that business establishments have been closing in the downtown business district. He also informed the board that the Land Trust includes 12 members, nine of whom reside in Granite City.

Mrs. McQuade's letter said 5,000 persons have signed petitions objecting to the mobile home development because of its eventual size of 3,000 units and the resulting increase in educational costs to taxpayers in the Granite City School District.

Board members took the position that they would study the matter and that it was doubtful that they would have a legal voice in the issue.

National Day of Prayer For Prisoners, Missing

In most Quad-City churches this Sunday, special prayers will be offered for U. S. prisoners of war and those missing in action to initiate the "National Day of Prayer for POW's."

President Richard Nixon has declared Sunday as a National Day of Prayer for servicemen held prisoners, the men who are missing in action and their families.

Mrs. Sandy (Noel) Innes of Granite City, whose husband, Navy Lt. (jg) Roger B. Innes, has been missing in action since Dec. 27, 1967, said several programs are planned nationally and at the state level during the week ahead.

On Sunday, Mrs. Innes has been invited to speak at two church services for servicemen at Glenview Naval Air Station, Great Lakes, Ill.

Many communities throughout the nation will fly the American flag for the entire week in honor of the MIA's. POW's, and on Tuesday each state governor will be presented a flag symbolic of the National League of Families of POW's.

Also Tuesday, all citizens are being requested to leave off their car headlights in honor of the captured and missing men as a reminder of their grim circumstances, Mrs. Innes said.

7 Uncommitted Candidates Elected as Party Delegates

"Regular" Democratic candidates running uncommitted swept seven positions as delegates to the national Presidential nominating convention in 23rd Congressional District balloting Tuesday.

The victors were John M. Karns Jr., 22,512, Robert L. Bergman 20,183, Buddy W. Davis, 19,688, Gene H. Graves 19,543, Kenneth J. Johnson 19,236, Charles L. Heister of Granite City 17,703 and Elmo J. Bush, 17,475.

Although the delegates will be free to vote for any candidate at the 1972 Democratic convention, there is statewide speculation that most of the uncommitted victors are likely to support Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine for the Presidential nomination.

A "near miss" was scored in this district by some of the seven candidates who had pledged on the ballot to support Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota. Richard Allen, a former Democratic chairman aligned politically with former State's Attorney Dick H. Mudge Jr. of Edwardsville, received 15,465 votes—2,010 short of the total for Elmo Bush.

Mudge was next with 14,838. Other McGovern delegate totals were Terry David Campbell 12,880, Sue Kolker 11,624, Carmen Deist Kerr 10,621, David Watson 8,084 and Luis Mate Williams, 4,986.

Delegate candidates formally committed to Sen. Muskie ran behind both the uncommitted and Sen. McGovern slates. They were Gordon D. Bush 9,126, Rudolph Papa 8,813, James D. Smith 8,531, Joan K. Henderson 8,336, H. Carl Runge 7,705, Lillian Singer 6,658, Claudia Nash Thomas 5,994 and Samuel D. Gipson, 3,317.

Two other uncommitted candidates were Steve Maragides, 4,430, and Kurt William Engbreton, 2,485.

The lone aspirant committed to Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, Kathleen Moran, received 2,686 votes.

Chosen as Democratic alternate delegates were Edward F. Horrigan, 26,503, Robert A. Calhoun, 23,037, and James E. Walish, 19,979.

The three winning as alternates are uncommitted. The losing alternate candidate, Vanessa Weiss, listed support of Sen. McGovern; she polled 8,330 votes.

There was no opposition for four Republican convention candidates, Delegates James W. McRoberts Jr. and Wilson H. West receiving 9,640 and 8,294 votes, respectively, and Alternate Delegates Herbert A. Jackson and Nancy Joan Meyer polling 8,453 and 8,150.

HOW DOES A&P FEEL ABOUT CONSUMER PROTECTION?

Concerned... very concerned! If we weren't, we would not have an unconditional money-back satisfaction guarantee on every product we sell... no matter who makes it.

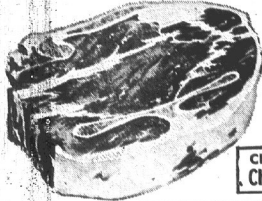

If we weren't, we would not have established, decades ago, our "Quality Control Laboratory".

How does the laboratory protect you? Well, at A&P, we're pretty fussy about the products we sell. So, before we will stock a product, we check it out pretty carefully. Our lab has checked thousands of products. If they don't think the product measures up, you'll never find it on an A&P shelf... no matter who the maker is, or who is behind the product.

It's not always easy to care but A&P doesn't care to be easy. A&P does care about you.

Governor Aided in His Re-Election Bid; Full Walker-Daley Unity Seems Unlikely

The unexpected defeat of Paul Simon for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is a shock to Madison County residents who envisioned a close friend and neighbor in the Executive Mansion.

This county, of course, is far "outweighed" by Cook County in terms of population. But independent candidate Daniel Walker made a strong showing in Downstate as well as the Chicago area.

It was apparent here and elsewhere that the new "crossover" ruling—enabling voters to call for either ballot they desired on Tuesday—encouraged many Republicans to cast an "anti Chicago Mayor Daley" vote by opposing Simon. This was ironic to the extreme, because Lieutenant Governor Simon offered far more than a "Daley rubber stamp" if nominated and elected.

From a practical standpoint, GOP voters who switched parties in the primary materialized their leader, Governor Richard B. Ogilvie. The governor did not really need much March help, winning by a landslide over token opposition. In November, he will have an improved re-election opportunity, since a full partnership between the Democratic organization and Daley-critic Walker seems unlikely.

In retrospect, Mr. Simon's decision to discuss major tax revisions appears to have played into Mr. Walker's hands. The issue, which really did not have to be brought up at all at this point, was used effectively against Mr. Simon in Mr. Walker's numerous campaign advertisements.

The "walking candidate" also exploited the lieutenant governor's policy of avoiding direct debates. And his doubt-ringing efforts out-Simoned Mr. Simon, who had initially earned his way into the Illinois legislature by tireless contacts with the voting public.

The outcome shattered the hopes of the Illinois AFL-CIO, which had taken the first step of endorsing Mr. Simon before the primary and even before state Democratic slatemakers met.

And the election could be viewed as a repudiation of the practice by party leaders of trying to dictate nominees through closed-door deliberations.

Mr. Simon's future is hard to assess at this point. He has prospects for capturing high elective office have been dealt a severe blow, his competence and experience in public life are far too valuable to waste. He was caught in an unfortunate political crossfire on Tuesday, and the people of Illinois could be the real losers.

Because Government Secrecy Tends to Grow Constant Effort to Combat It Is Necessary

Comment by Editor & Publisher magazine: President Nixon's Executive Order, effective June 1, intended to limit secrecy surrounding federal documents, is certainly a step in the right direction, even though it is being shot full of holes by various opponents as being both inadequate and restrictive.

The order is designed to attack both ends of the secrecy network, limit the number of government agencies and the number of government executives or employees that can use secrecy labels; speed up the process of declassifying documents that have been suppressed for years.

The President must have anticipated some criticism of the arrangements when he explained: "Rules can never be airtight and we must rely upon the good judgment of individuals throughout the government." That is the crux of any system that permits individuals to put a secrecy stamp on government documents. Specifically, the new order reduces the number of agencies, now numbering 38 outside of the White House, that can classify documents. Only 12 will be permitted to use the "top secret" stamp and 13 more will be able to use the "secret" stamp. In the first group, the number of officials authorized to use the "top secret" label will be reduced from 5,100 to 1,800.

Almost twenty years ago, President Eisenhower issued a similar Executive Order on Nov. 9, 1953, withdrawing authority to classify information from 19 government agencies and limited such authority to the heads of 16 other agencies. These did not include Defense, State or Treasury.

The comparison of numbers is important because it shows how secrecy in government offices has a tendency to feed on itself and spread if no direct constant effort is made to combat it. High intentions lose out when the only control is the judgment of individuals authorized to use a rubber stamp.

For that reason, the proposal in Congress to establish a joint executive-legislative-judicial commission to undertake continuing reviews of secrecy in government has merit. The system of classification of documents, as well as their declassification, needs an impartial watchdog and this is one way of getting it.

Four-Township Sewer Plan Offers Saving of $3,908,000, Southwest Commission Reports

Confirming February and March analyses and articles by the Press-Record, the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission has today issued a report favoring city upgrading of the Granite City sewage treatment plant—advancing the plant from primary to secondary treatment—rather than the Chouteau-Granite City-Norfolk-Venice Township construction of a system of sanitary collector and interceptor sewers.

The Commission's recommendations were noted at Monday night's City Council meeting and referred to the aldermen for study.

The SIMAPC report puts it this way: The four-township plan "proposes to use the existing Granite City sewer plant as a regional facility and construct an intercept-trunk line that would encircle the city on the west and north and thereby be capable of serving the hanting area known as Mitchell, located in the vicinity of Interstate 270 and Illinois Route 203."

"In addition, this section of the proposed trunk line would have the potential to serve industrial areas which it would transverse and commercial development paralleling Interstate 270."

"Branching southward at a point 6,000 feet south of the Chain of Rocks Road and then eastward to the Village of Ponton Beach, a gravity main is proposed which could serve the unserved area north and east of the plant."

"The interceptors would not only serve existing residential development—which is presently unserved and uses septic systems which in most cases cause odorate properly because of the high water table and poor soil conditions. They also could serve the industrial and commercial uses which are proposed by the Madison County and Granite City comprehensive plans."

"This proposal is most consistent with implementing the comprehensive plans for the area. And no disadvantages can be noted at the present time."

In addition to this eloquent argument—a healthier and more prosperous community—the program offers savings which SIMAPC estimates at $3,908,000.

"One seldom hears how the actions translate to kilowatts and kilowatt hours. And yet, for example, primary sewage treatment is only about 10 to 12 cents each year."

"Secondary treatment, which most Americans are familiar with, costs about 20 to 30 cents per person each year."

"In meeting mounting energy needs, we cannot look to methods whose feasibility has not been established."

"Rather, we have two alternatives on which to base our energy and electrical growth patterns: the burning of fossil fuels—coal, oil and gas—and the fissioning of nuclear fuels, uranium and thorium."

"It is of central importance to compare the relative extent to which we will depend on these two basic sources of energy."

"Indications are that nuclear fuels will be supplementing fossil fuels, whose usage will continue to increase."

"Our efforts must be directed to improving the efficiency of using both fossil and nuclear fuels and especially in directions which result in minimizing adverse impact on the environment."

"In the search for a better future, nuclear power plants offer many attractive features and potential benefits. An important one is the help they provide in conserving fossil fuel resources."

"Another benefit is the opportunities for decreasing the burden on the nation's transportation system."

"The daily fuel requirements of a 1,000 megawatt coal-fired power plant are about 8,000 tons. This is the equivalent of 300 coal cars a day, each carrying 40 tons. By contrast, the fuel requirements for a nuclear power plant are only about 10 to 12 tons each year."

"Nuclear plants have other environmental advantages, such as absence of combustion products. Their appearance is both clean and aesthetically pleasing."

"By providing competition to other energy sources, they benefit the consumer and help keep power costs and rates down."

"They also provide an attractive energy option by their ability to provide economical power for regions distant from fuel sources."

"Nuclear power plants, of course, have disadvantages. As is well known, they release radioactivity to the environment at a very low level. This must be carefully controlled conditions."

"Also, the present generation of light water reactors release more waste thermal energy to the environment than do fossil plants of the same size."

"However, this relative disadvantage will change with the introduction of advanced reactors."

"We must also take note of significant problems being encountered with the large-scale use of nuclear power. The new and relatively advanced technology into the economy."

"Utility and manufacturer organizations are finding that building nuclear plants for reliable performance poses a number of difficulties and problems, many of which are amenable to solution by application of technical and management techniques and techniques that are available."

UNPAID SEWER TAXES CAUSE FUND IMBALANCE

To the Editor:

I think it is about time that the trustees of the East St. Louis and Sanitary District publish the names of all people who are delinquent in paying their sewage taxes.

Apparently this amounts to thousands of dollars.

If this money was collected, it could be utilized to pay off the debt sooner.

SIGNS ON POSTS CAUSE CLUTTER AND HAZARDS

To the Editor:

For those who have election posters they wish to display for a candidate of their choice and have a utility pole in mind as their idea spot, here are several logical reasons why another location could be more realistic.

1. Harmful to working linesmen.

a) Staples or nails could snap into flesh and harm the worker.

b) Sickness of posters could grasp linemen's cleats from grasping pole firmly, causing serious fall.

c) Detached posters become strewn along highways and streets.

d) Give city streets an added cluttered look.

e) Unlawful. There are city ordinances against posting bills on utility poles.

If someone is dedicated to a responsible candidate who is interested in the safety and well-being of the community, it could be more to his advantage to place the posters in places like windows and yards and on cars.

Let's keep our highways and streets safe, clean and as beautiful as possible.

State Status— Campaign Funds Not Easy to Get

By RAY SERATI

Springfield—Financing a statewide campaign is no easy task. Any candidate running for a statewide office will tell you expenses mount up very fast.

It takes dinners and various other fund-raising projects to get money for a campaign. In some cases, it takes several such affairs to raise enough money.

When a candidate has a sale, it usually takes a big name speaker from a specific party to help bring the crowd in.

Then, after getting the money, the candidate has to decide where to spend it. What section of the state needs the most attention? Where is the advertising needed — and through what type of media?

Another question is: What type of printed materials will be used — and campaign buttons?

All of this adds up to money. And, without question, all of the candidates agree that money to run for any office, let alone a statewide office.

Campaign contributions come from all over the state for a candidate who is seeking statewide office.

When he is running, the candidate will always say any type of donation is welcomed. Large or small, they can all use the money.

And, in the main, all of the candidates do use the money. But, in many instances, the matter that sticks in the voters' mind is just how much money is used in a statewide campaign.

Of course, if the candidate is presently an officeholder on the state level, he may not have to spend a great deal of money in the area of name recognition. Otherwise, this often runs into a great deal of money.

Of course, one of the underlying problems—getting money for a candidate on the state level from a particular area is intensified if there is a hard-fought campaign on the local level for such offices as Congress or the Illinois General Assembly.

One thing does appear to be certain—the wind is blowing toward the state candidates, but undoubtedly it will include candidates for the General Assembly as well as candidates for Congressional seats.

Richard B. Ogilvie has said he will ask the General Assembly to take some action on campaign spending.

This could be held to the state candidates, but undoubtedly it will include candidates for the General Assembly as well as candidates for Congressional seats.

Styles Affect State's Prison Work, Training

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Fashion designers probably will never know it, but they're having an impact on Illinois prisons.

As part of an ongoing program of re-evaluation of a number of prison training programs, several will soon be discontinued entirely, others will be phased down, and still others moved.

A. M. Monahan, assistant director of the state department of corrections for the adult section, said one of the programs which probably will soon be phased out is the dress shoe operation. The reason?

"Styles change too fast, and it costs too much to keep buying new lasts," Monahan says. "If our shoes are out of style, a prisoner leaving prison will just throw them in the gutter, rather than have people know by his shoes where he's come from."

"And you know how styles are — square toes, pointed toes, high cut, low cut, zippers. We just can't reasonably keep up."

Work shoes will still be made in prison shops, Monahan said, and the division which makes canvas shoes will be continued, but probably will be moved to the state's new minimum security institution at Vienna.

The equipment used in the canvas shoe making operation is all new, Monahan said. And Vienna, opened a few months ago, still does not have any prison-based job training programs.

There is space for the shoe-making equipment, Monahan said, and moving the program there from Joliet — Stateville — would provide a work training program for 20 to 25 Vienna inmates.

Also scheduled to be eliminated is the textile making operation at the Joliet — Stateville complex, where fabric for towels, shirts, pants and mattress covers is manufactured.

The program will be closed down sometime within a year, after supplies of raw materials already on hand are used up. Not fashion, but lack of jobs in textile plants, is the reason for dropping that program, Monahan said, adding that the goal of the training program is to give men usable skills from which they can support themselves after release from prison.

Under discussion also are plans to phase down the operation of the tailor shop, which makes "dress out" suits given to men leaving prison on parole or completion of sentence. There is a feeling among inmates, Monahan said, that sewing is women's work; few indicate any interest in learning tailoring, and therefore the tailor shop is not efficiently helping them prepare to support themselves outside the walls.

Overall, Monahan said, studies indicate it will be just about as cheap to buy fabrics and other items now prison made, as it is to produce them in the institutions.

Also undergoing changes in approach, he said, are farming operations at Illinois prisons.

Hog raising is being phased out, partly because of environmental problems, and a number of dairying programs are being dropped as equipment becomes obsolete and replacement becomes increasingly expensive.

Most of today's prison inmates are products of urban settings rather than farms and it is felt that few would be likely to seek employment on a farm on their release from prison, making the program unsatisfactory as job training.

"It's a continuously changing situation in prisons today," Monahan concluded. "We constantly keep evaluating and updating."

Price Hopes for Expansion Of Veterans' Education Law

The new Veterans' Education and Training Amendments of 1972, H.R. 12828, which passed the House of Representatives this month, may provide the impetus for enactment of further overdue legislation in the field of veterans' educational assistance, Congressman Melvin Price (Dem., 24th Ill.) said this week.

The new amendments would increase the present monthly allowance rate for veterans alone to $300. Rates for veterans with dependents would be increased proportionately.

Also included are substantial increases of about 45% in the rates for on-the-job and apprentice trainees.

"It was pointed out at hearings on the bill that experience has shown that these are the areas where the greatest need occurs, and the larger increases would provide incentives to stimulate job opportunities for veterans," Rep. Price said.

To alleviate inordinate delay in the veteran's receipt of his allowance at the outset of his educational pursuit, the Illinois lawmaker noted, "H.R. 12828 also authorizes advance payment of the rehabilitation subsistence and educational assistance allowances, with such safeguards against overpayment as proof of enrollment, etc."

The bill extends to wives and widows the right to pursue correspondence courses and authorizes apprentice and on-the-job training programs for wives, widows and children.

"These opportunities are available to the veteran himself," said Price, "but it has been demonstrated that in many cases these classes of dependents or survivors of veterans have the same need for such below-college course of education."

"There is provision for eligible wives and widows to pursue secondary level training without charge to their basic entitlement. Similar authority is already extended to educationally disadvantaged veterans, and this would be a logical extension of these benefits."

"Such legislation will serve to bring the veterans' assistance program up to more modern standards of effectiveness and efficiency," Price said. "Changing conditions have necessitated a partial revamp of the administration of veterans' benefits, and a suitable basis for additional changes required by the conditions of the seventies."

Plan New Criteria on Jr. College Districts

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—Should the legislature pass and Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie approve pending legislation which would put the entire state under the blanket of a junior college district by 1974, the Illinois Junior College Board intends to be ready to help speed the project.

At a recent JCB meeting in Chicago, the board approved the appointment of a six-member Task Force.

It will be charged with establishing criteria for the board to follow in acting on petitions for new districts and petitions for annexation to existing districts.

The task force, headed by Dr. Richard G. Browne, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education as chairman, was not directed to any specific areas of investigation.

However, it is expected to consider such areas as geographical district size, total district population, college age population, number of high school graduates, projected full-time or full-time equivalent enrollment, assessed valuation, commuting distance or travel time for a certain proportion of the district's population, and shopping and commercial interest of area residents as well as other factors task force members may introduce.

Presently, there are 37 junior college districts with 46 campuses, covering an estimated 75% of the state's area and an estimated 89% of the population.

In addition, a new junior college district, Macoland, has been approved by voters in the Decatur area and is expected to begin operations next fall.

Dr. Fred L. Wellman, executive secretary of the Illinois Junior College Board, told task force members that the board is already receiving indications of a renewal of interest in annexations to various junior college districts and formation of other new districts in several parts of the state.

This occurred after the current legislation came before the last General Assembly session and was sent back on amendatory veto by the governor.

Other members of the task force, with Dr. Browne, are Dr.

Elden A. Lichty, former professor of educational administration and junior college curriculum at Illinois State University; Mrs. Algiste Hershey, of Alton; Dr. Annabel C. Prescott, former member of the Illinois Junior College Board from the Chicago area.

John Page Wham, Centralia

attorney and former member of the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University; and Dr. William K. Ogilvie, professor of education for junior college programs at Northern Illinois University, who has been active in a number of feasibility studies on formation of junior college districts.

Charles A. Meyer presided as dean. Forty-year members present were Edwin L. Ehret, Norman F. Ackermann and Elmer C. Schifferdecker.

A memorial service was conducted by the Rev. Roy J. Field Jr. for members who died since March 18, 1971. Included

SIU Conference Center To House President

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 30 Thurs., Mar. 23, 1972

Plans have been set in motion to re-designate a conference center on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale as an official residence for the president.

Under a proposal approved by the SIU board of trustees, the University would sell its interest in the 14,000 square foot residence to the SIU Foundation and then lease it back for use as the president's official campus home.

The University had spent more than $550,000 on the building when construction was halted in 1969 after a controversy over its cost and financing.

Foundation received a $1 million stock gift from Chicago insurance executive W. Clement Stone to finish the project. The Foundation borrowed money against the stock and awarded a $366,000 contract to the Oakes Construction Co. of Metropolis to complete the project.

SIU later designated the so-called "University House" as a conference center, but James Brown, the board's chief of staff, said Friday converting it for that purpose is not "reasonably or economically" feasible.

SIU will negotiate for sale of the site and improvements to the Foundation to recoup its portion of the costs. The money will be applied to "enhancing the academic excellence of programs in existence," Brown said.

Brown told the board SIU hopes then to lease the building until the Foundation has cashed in Stone's gift stock in Combined Insurance Co. of America and has paid all outstanding obligations. The stock cannot be sold until Jan. 10, 1973.

The residence then would be conveyed back to the University.

Robert Gallegly, SIU treasurer, said the lease is necessary for the Foundation to borrow the estimated $550,000 it will need to purchase the University's interest in the project.

'Action' Volunteers Aiding Poor Areas

By RAY McHUGH
Chief, Washington Bureau
Copley News Service
Washington — Delphine Bad
reservation in the mid-1960s for a job in Capitol Hill. After a few years in the office of a South Dakota congressman, she decided to attend the University of Colorado, where she is now a junior.

This year, Delphine is taking her university back to the reservation.

One of 850 students selected from 20 colleges and universities to work with disadvantaged Americans in ghettos, rural areas and Indian reservations, Delphine will be a liaison between tribal Indians and non-Indian volunteers who are operating seven Sioux learning centers.

The young Indian woman is typical of the students involved in "University Year for Action," a plan that could become the biggest youth program of the 1970s, dwarfing the Peace Corps.

"We have no idea how big the program might be," says Joseph Blatchford, director of the sponsoring "Action," the federal citizens' service corps.

Largest Volunteer Force
"There are seven million students in college right now, and there will be more than 10 million before the seventies are over. If only one in a hundred of these spent a full year in "Action," they would be the largest volunteer force outside the military anywhere in the world."

Blatchford estimates there are 35 million "disadvantaged" Americans.

The 550 volunteers have been selected by their university faculties and they will be given special training before embarking on their year-long projects. They will be assigned to health services, community planning, economic development, housing, improvement, consumer education, courts and law enforcement agencies, youth services and education.
Each will get academic credit toward graduation. (They will be graded by local supervisors and university faculty specialists.) Each also will receive a cost-of-living subsistence allowance of $200 a month or more. The student will be required to live in the area he is serving.

39 Schools Chosen
Blatchford said the 30 schools were chosen from almost 170 (enrollment of 1.5 million) that submitted programs.

He calls it a "striking indorsement" of a proposal first put forth last January by President Nixon in a speech at the University of Nebraska.

"It is a clear expression of the intent on the part of the nation's institutions of higher learning to make their manpower and expertise available to the poor," Blatchford said.
"It also indicates their willingness to experiment in new modes of education."

"The time has come to break the lockstep in education from kindergarten to a college degree. This program allows the student to go out into the community and mix service with his textbooks," he said.

The pilot UYA program was organized in a three-day conference at Action headquarters here. Faculty and administration representatives from the participating schools and a number of volunteer students already at work met with government officials.

State Progressive on Environment But More Actions Needed—Ogilvie

BY GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Nothing in our state can match the grim desolation of our abandoned strip mine areas.

Idle and useless to man or nature, these ravaged areas are haunting reminders of an era that is nearly finished.

It was an era when Chicagoans died of typhoid from drinking the sewage-polluted water of Lake Michigan.

Timber barons cut and ran, leaving sections of our states barren wastelands exposed to ruinous soil damage.

The stripminers, like most people in that era, couldn't see the harm of laying waste a few acres here and a few more there.

And everyone believed and acted as if the beauty and expanse of this country were unlimited.

It was always easy to move on because the land was broad and laws to protect it didn't exist.

But the ruined acres of strip-mined Illinois land grew and grew in number, leaving parts of whole counties scarred and lifeless.

The owners had no further interest and the land — now amounting to more than 50,000 acres — became orphans.

They produce no taxes, they exposed minerals wash into our streams and kill all life, but they still have a kind of value.

They are reminders of our past ignorance and neglect. Illinois, fortunately, has not suffered the ravages permitted in parts of Kentucky and West Virginia.

Yet our loss has been severe even without the Appalachian topography that has accentuated the damage elsewhere.

In my recent special message to our legislators, I asked that work be started at once on the tough job of restoring these 50,000 orphaned acres to a useful condition.

A tough new act passed last year only regulates future strip mining. We must now give the state the means to repair the damage done in the past.

Illinois is most fortunate among virtually all of the states because of our enactment of progressive environmental measures in 1970.

But there is still much to be done to continue the fight. In the long run, winning the fight will be measured in dollars and cents as well as in human and esthetic values.

Among the measures I proposed are these:

—A ban on an airport in Lake Michigan. This encroachment on the lake that belongs to all of us cannot be tolerated.

—Enactment of an Environmental Policy Act, which will extend to all Illinois public works the protective aspects of the federal act.

Simply stated, the act will require study of environmental considerations in the planning of public works projects like dams, roads, airports and the like.

—Immediate passage of the stalled Scenic Rivers Act, which seeks to save for future generations the very few miles of unspoiled rivers in our state.

—Passage of an act to protect endangered species by forbidding sale of the skins or parts of threatened animals and reptiles.

—Creation of a state financing authority to help hard-pressed industries meet anti-pollution deadlines.

The authority would issue bonds at low interest rates which would be repaid by participating industries without any cost to taxpayers.

One reason I am optimistic about winning the fight to protect our environment is the generally cooperative and enlightened attitude of Illinois businessmen.

I assisted in the dedication of a refinery last year and was fully aware that old-fashioned refineries were prime sources of air and water pollution.

Yet this refinery had been designed for zero pollution.

I asked the project manager why they had spent so much more money than even our toughest standards required, and he answered:

"We looked around us four years ago when we were designing the plant. It was obvious that it would be cheaper to anticipate zero pollution requirements than to alter the refinery as the requirements grew tougher and tougher."

"In the long run, we save money and act as good neighbors."

With that kind of attitude, and every bit of leadership we can exert, Illinois can have clean air and water, and productive farms and industries that are not polluters.

New Surface for New Salem Paths

Capley News Service

Springfield — When Abraham Lincoln and his fellow villagers walked through New Salem they carried through mud, silt on ice, stirred up dust or trod on smooth, dry surfaces, depending on the season and the weather.

Today, a million visitors a year pass through the village. And what was a minor, accepted nuisance in Lincoln's day becomes a major problem.

To try and provide visitor convenience while retaining the atmosphere of the original village, the Illinois Conservation Department is experimenting with various road and path surfaces, at least one of which may also be a handy solution for an environmental problem.

Tammings, assistant superintendent of parks in charge of the special events program section, said the approaches between the existing asphalt main street through the village, and each of the cabins, has been surfaced with either wood chips or shredded bark—providing a tider surface without looking offensively modern.

Should the shredded bark be satisfactory, it would solve two problems, Tammings said, since EPA rulings now prohibit burning bark—creating serious problems for sawmills.

The cost factor, length of wear and other factors will be considered before a final decision is made on which surface to use, he said, though the wood chips seem to be more satisfactory at this point.

The main road through the village is also to be replaced this year, because, Tammings said, the department is investigating various alternatives, which would provide a hard surface and still look more appropriate than the modern black asphalt roadway which has been there.

Some hard surface is necessary because from time to time trucks must pass through the village, and many visitors are on crutches or in wheelchairs, difficult to handle in loose chips or bark.

A unique solution may be a conventional asphalt roadway, with small wood chips and sawdust in the top layer, giving the look of a loose surface with the convenience of a conventional road.

One of our staff found this in an asphalt manual," Tammings said, "and unfortunately the asphalt people we've consulted tell us no one has ever tried it. So, we're going to try it. It works! It'll be great, and if it doesn't, we'll be left with tried."

January Bond Sales in County Hit $567,365

Madison County residents purchased a total of $567,365 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in January, according to Henry D. Karandjeff, Granite City, volunteer county chairman of the savings bonds committee.

Sales in the state of Illinois were $36,238,394, according to Clarence S. Schowski, North Central Market Director, for the Treasury Savings Bonds Division. This is 17.9% greater than sales for January 1971.

Illinois sales represented 7% of the national total of $31,000,000 and 10.3% of the state's annual quota of $351,000,000. As of January 31, Americans held over $5 billion in E and H savings bonds and freedom shares.

Qualifying for Work Incentive Tax Credit Program Is Explained

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q Can employers now start hiring employees that will qualify them for the new work incentive tax credit that was added to the law by the Revenue Act of 1971?

A Yes. Employers can hire persons that will qualify them for the new work incentive tax credit.

The credit, equal to 20% of cash wages or salaries paid to a qualified employee for his first 12 months of employment, may be claimed by those who employ workers under the Work Incentive (WIN) program.

The aim of this program is to help people and their dependence on welfare by placing them in jobs or on-the-job training.

The Labor Department must certify that these employees are placed under the WIN program and did not displace other workers.

For more information on the work incentive tax credit mail a postcard to the Internal Revenue Service and ask for Publication 553, Highlights of 1971 Changes in the Tax Law. It's available free.

Q Do I have to bring my tax return to an IRS office to have my retirement income credit computed?

A No. Simply fill in the necessary information indicated on the instructions on your Schedule R and Form 1040 and mail them in the envelope that came with your tax forms package.

Q I just received a 1972 estimated tax return in the mail. Do I have to start filing estimated returns or can I just increase my withholding?

A Some taxpayers find it convenient to increase their withholding tax to avoid filing declarations of estimated tax.

If you do so, make sure the balance you estimate to be due on your 1972 Form 1040 will be less than $100.

Q Can I deduct ground rent on my home?

A In some cases. Payments you make annually or periodically on a redeemable ground rent are deductible as interest.

Payments on a nonredeemable ground rent are not deductible as interest, but may be deductible as rent to the extent they are a business expense or are attributable to rental property held for the production of income.

Amounts paid to redeem a ground rent are payments to acquire an interest in the title to the property and are not deductible.

Q How can I tell whether I should take the standard deduction on my Federal return or itemize my deductions?

A It usually will be to your advantage to itemize if: you are a homeowner paying interest and taxes; you had unusually large medical and dental expenses during the year; you paid alimony; suffered a major uninsured casualty loss; or made large contributions to qualified charities.

If you have any doubts as to which method will result in a lower tax, compute your tax both ways.

Q Do you get your refund any quicker if you file early in the filing season?

A Yes. Because many returns are filed around April 15 deadline, it will be to your advantage to file early.

If you file your return now and it contains no errors, you should receive your refund in four to six weeks.

Q Are annuity benefits taxable?

A You may be able to exclude part or all of these benefits from income depending upon how much you previously contributed to the plan and how many months it will take you to receive the plan.

recover this amount starting from the date of the first benefit payment.

Generally, if you do not contribute to the cost of the annuity, the benefits are fully taxable.

For more information, drop a card to your IRS district office and ask for a free copy of Publication 575, Tax Information on Pensions and Annuities.

2 Economic Statements Required from Judges

By CARYL CARSTENS
Copy News Service

Springfield — Economic disclosure statements required under new legislation have been filed so far by less than 100 persons connected with state government, according to the records of the office of the secretary of state.

Sixteen legislators and 34 legislative candidates have filed statements of economic disclosure.

Five members of the Board of Higher Education are the only persons serving on various state boards and commissions to file statements so far.

Adj. Gen. Harold Patton is the only appointed state official who has filed a statement and none of the statewide elected officials have so far filed them, nor candidates for election to state office.

No statements have been filed so far by members of the judiciary.

Court Administrator Roy Gulley said he will send the economic disclosure forms to all judges in Illinois after April 1. Judges presently are filing economic interest statements required by the Illinois Supreme Court, he said, and these statements must be on file by March 31.

Since the new economic disclosure statements — required by legislation passed last January — need not be on file until July 1, the Supreme Court decided to continue its requirement for economic disclosure for an additional year.

To lessen confusion among the state's judges over the separate disclosure requirements, Gulley decided not to send out the new forms until April 1.

So far, eight state employees have filed statements. All state employees earning $20,000 a year or more must file economic disclosure statements.

Under prior legislation, only elected state officers, legislators, and candidates for those positions had to file public disclosure statements. By executive order, some employees under the governor also were required to file statements.

Regional Report -- Airport, Health, Music, Highway News

(Illinois Metro-East Industrial Development Corporation)

This week's news concerning Illinois regional projects was both good and bad.

U. S. Senator Charles Percy, R-Illinois, as a result of a conference with John Volpe, Secretary of the Department of Transportation, said he believes that Volpe's department will support location of the new St. Louis metropolitan jetport in Illinois.

But several other projects received setbacks.

The board of directors of the Alliance for Regional Community Health, a regional health planning group, said "no" to the Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, proposed for central Madison County.

A spokesman for Southwestern Illinois Health Facilities, Inc., developers of the proposed 125-bed hospital, said, however, that plans will go forward despite the ARCH ruling.

The Mississippi River Festival concert series received a financial setback, in plans for its fourth season, when the Illinois Arts Council agreed to provide only $35,000 for the 1972 season, less than one-third of the $120,000 the festival had requested.

In news of highway development, a $5,551,250 contract to rebuild the intersection of Illinois 150 and U. S. 50 in Fairview Heights and other projects in Swanson has been awarded to Hoeffken Brothers, Inc. of Belleville.

Bids of six highway projects offered in a bid letting by the Illinois Division of Highways were below state estimates.

Most of the projects are for construction of portions of the Interstate 64 system in St. Clair County, between Fairview Heights and Lebanon.

Governor Richard B. Ogilvie has released money to Collinsville and New Baden for aid in construction of sewage treatment improvements.

Collinsville is receiving $130,125 and New Baden $9,235. The money is from the state's Anti-Pollution Bond act program administered by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Under a proposal now under consideration, Hartford, Wood River, Roxana and Alton may become part of an enlarged Port of St. Louis. Under the recommended plan, present 18-mile port extensions on both sides of the Mississippi River would be extended to 60 miles.

The purpose of the plan is to keep St. Louis the No. 1 inland port in the U. S., an honor threatened by the increasingly busy Port of Memphis, it was said.

In new developments, a proposed Ramada Inn Motel at Bethalto Civic Memorial Airport sprouted new wings when the airport authority granted the developer a 40-acre extension on a property apiece after the Federal Aviation Administration lifted requirements that disrupted financing of the structures.

In Rosewood Heights, 53 lots on a 13-acre tract known as Airwood Manor Addition No. 2 is about to get under way and Airwood Manor Addition No. 3, with 83 lots on a 21-acre tract, is to be launched in the near future.

Approval by the Illinois School Building Commission of an interest-free loan of more than $1 million assured construction of 30 classrooms in O'Fallon School District No. 9, expected to begin this summer.

The new Maryville West school in Maryville was dedicated March 20.

For the second time in less than a year, residents of Highland School District 5 rejected a bond issue for a new high school.

In labor news, a 16-week strike of 280 employees at Christian Welfare Hospital in East St. Louis ended, with strikers receiving a 12½% pay increase in a two-year contract.

A three-year agreement between the Castings Division of General Steel Industries and Bellemakers Local 530 was reached. The agreement calls for approximately 7% increases in wages and fringe benefits each year over the three year period.

In general area news, an agreement to settle the Granite City Steel Co. air pollution case has been approved by the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

The Madison County Community Mental Health Board re-elected Ralph Yamm of Wood River chairman for the second time in two months.

An office in the Belcoet building on U. S. 50 near Old Collinsville had been chosen by the Fairview Heights Woman's Club as the site for a city library.

A large-scale citizen effort is being made to clear the Madison County Board to block a 77-acre residential-industrial-commercial-recreational development which includes up to 3,000 mobile homes in Chouteau Township. And a new photography studio has opened near the Lewis and Clark Restaurant on Highway Three by Marge and Ralph Gravemann.

Muskie Promises End to War in Closing Election Speech

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

U. S. Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine), speaking here Monday afternoon before a rally of 600 persons at Bellemore Village Shopping Center, said that he expected to win the Illinois Presidential primary election in Illinois the following day.

"I really believe we're going to win here tomorrow. It is important, because we've got to give the country new direction. We've got to turn it around," the Presidential hopeful said.

"We are here to begin the process of electing a new president—because we need one," he told the gathering.

Muskie arrived here at 3:35 p.m. Monday on his final primary election eve swing through the state. He was introduced by Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City who urged all those present to vote in Tuesday's election, "including your 18-year-old young people." He remarked that of 14,089 registered voters in the county, only about 30% were expected to vote Tuesday.

Mixed Reception

As Muskie stepped to the podium he was greeted by cheers and applause by most of the crowd, but by boos and jeers from a group of about 30 youths who held up a sign saying "Legalize Marijuana."

Favorable signs displayed included signs reading "Good Luck Ed," "Muskie, Stevenson in '71," "Don't Tread on Ed," "Granite City Welcomes Muskie" and "Coolidge Junior High School Says Good Luck."

Muskie spoke out on the Vietnam war and said, "I propose to end the war and withdraw from the Pacific, and I will do that war and set a date for complete withdrawal when I take office."

"The war was wrong to begin with and now the war stands between us and our future. It is costing us $50 billion per year which could have been spent for schools. It could have been spent to ease property taxes. It could have been used to help senior citizens," he said.

Financial Problems Cited

He said all Americans face financial problems but no group feels the effects more than senior citizens. "Social security is all many people have when they retire and they feel angry and frustrated when they go to the meat counter. The average citizen feels pushed around by government and by industry."

Muskie stated, "A country doesn't live unless it meets the economic needs of the people and the wants of the people. The people believe in this country."

"I want to know why we are caught in this war. Why the economic management in this country is a sheer disaster. Why the burdens of supporting necessary tax programs are not equitably distributed among our citizens," the senator asserted.

He said a fair tax system where everyone pays his share of taxes is needed. "It simply isn't fair that big business gets a $7 billion tax cut this year while you pay more."

Proposes Deductions

"I propose tax deductions for wage earners and for consumers. I propose property tax relief and reform. I propose to close the $14-billion tax loopholes for big business. We can do it and we will do it," the candidate told the gathering.

Two-thirds of the corporate wealth of the country is in the economic control of 200 corporations, Muskie said. "We must find a way to bring economic and governmental power back to the people," he emphasized.

He proposed a major anti-trust program to stop further big business mergers. "I will have the Federal Trade Commission and the new Department of Justice, and it must be a new department, investigate the economic concentration of power," he promised.

Nixon Policy Assailed

Speaking against President Richard M. Nixon, the Senator stated, "Mr. Nixon proposed a plan for prosperity when he took office which was to create 15 million new jobs. Instead he created the first inflationary recession in our history."

He said unemployment in Granite City is up 70% since 1969 and that there presently are 95 million Americans unemployed including 400,000 Vietnam veterans.

In answer to the unemployment issue, Muskie proposed governmental incentives for industrial growth in underprivileged areas and the retraining of the unemployed, especially veterans, to enable them to find jobs.

Unnecessary Problems

"There is no reason we should be fighting those children go to good schools and those go to bad schools. There is no reason we can't have good streets. There is no reason we can't have clean air and water. There is no reason we should be fighting over too scarce jobs."

"This country is worth about $1 trillion in production, more than you and I can imagine, and enough to produce jobs for those who need them. Enough to finance good schools. Enough to give us a clean environment and enough to put hope in every citizen in our land," he stated.

The Presidential candidate said that when he was in school, the country consisted of persons of different nationalities, races and religions. "Our differences made the country strong. Now our differences are reasons to be afraid of each other," he stated.

He said the American people must be reunited behind their government and must elect a government which will bring them together.

As the Senator left the speaker's platform, he shook hands with many in the parking lot and shopping center arcade on the way to his car. From Granite City, he was flown to Marion for his final speech of the Illinois primary campaign.

MAJOR CAMPAIGN SPEECH was delivered on the eve of the Illinois primary election Monday at Bellemore Village Shopping Center by U. S. Senator Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine), a forerunner among Democratic candidates for the presidential nomination. In the lower right corner, a U. S. Secret Service agent, wearing dark glasses and the tri-color triangular pin of the Secret Service, keeps a vigilant eye on the crowd. Presidential candidates are under Secret Service protection. Seated behind Muskie is William F. Kinder of Granite City, Democratic candidate for state representative from the 56th Legislative district.

Venice School Board Sets Schedule for 72-73 Year

The Venice Board of Education approved a recommendation to dismiss school for the Easter vacation on Thursday, March 30, through Monday, April 3, during a meeting Monday night in which board members also discussed a tentative school calendar for the 1972-73 year.

In conjunction with other schools in Madison county the board plans to open school on Aug. 28 this year and close on May 31, 1973, providing a total of 183 days for school, and two days for the teachers' institute. Days that school will be dismissed include Labor Day on Sept. 4; end of first six weeks, Oct. 6; Columbus birthday, Oct. 8; Veterans' Day, Oct. 25; end of second six weeks, Nov. 17; Thanksgiving, Nov. 23; last day before Christmas, Dec. 22 and return to school on Jan. 2.

The board voted to transfer funds from the special education building fund active account to be invested. It will bring to $32,000 the total invested in time certificates for a period of one year to earn the largest amount of interest.

Approve Payroll

Financial statements for both the Venice School and the Lincoln Technical Center, and the teachers' payroll at both locations also were approved.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ruth McDonald who has been employed as the school nurse for ten years. She will continue working until the close of the current school year.

An estimate from the C. J. Schlosser and Co. of Alton in the amount of $1,100 to audit the school books was approved with the stipulation that a fee of $750 was for Venice Schools and $350 for Lincoln Technical Center.

Approve Bills

Among items approved for payment was a bill of $1,386 for the nurses aid program at Lincoln Technical Center that includes the purchase of 25 watches, valued at $300, for the students of that particular training program. The entire bill is reimbursed by the state.

Board members agreed to purchase a new lawn mower and repair a riding mower to be ready for use soon.

Jack Tolliver reminded the board of the annual school board election to be held on April 8 to elect two members. Precinct One will be at the Venice School and Precinct Two located at the Eagle Park Recreation Center, he added.

Educational Fund monthly bills approved for payment totaled $5,280; building fund, $5,337, and the transportation fund, $3,621.

Aretha Franklin Knows What Soul Is All About

By JUDY HUGG

Copy News Service

"Soul is feeling, depth, the ability to reach someone," says Aretha Franklin, considered by many to be America's first lady of soul. "Soul is all about living and having to get along. It's being a part of what today is all about, and if I'm not telling it like it is, I'm certainly not telling it like it ain't."

The ability of Miss Franklin to put this definition of soul to her music has enabled her to become the biggest selling female vocalist in history. In fact, the Atlantic recording artist has sold more records than Bessie Smith, Billie Holiday and Dinah Washington all put together.

Just listen to her latest albums called "Young, Gifted and Black," "Aretha's Greatest Hits" and "Heavy Soul," all on the Atlantic label, and you'll see how this has all come about.

Aretha, who was born in Memphis and raised in Detroit, first exercised her lungs as a gospel singer in her father's New Bethel Baptist Church.

Fortunate enough to be endowed with a voice that is rich, sensuous, full and completely adept for all types of songs, she cut her first record at the age of 14. Then she enjoyed five years with Columbia Records.

Cold Records

However, it wasn't until she joined forces with Atlantic that things really began to happen. Since that time has been one gold record after another in rapid succession for Aretha. And what does this phenomenal success mean to Miss Franklin?

"Well, it's meant security," she said, "I think I've paid my dues as a singer. I've done the one-night stands and the joints. I've got a big car now, but I still remember the buses and I also remember the restaurants and hotels I couldn't get in. But those were the rules then and some of the people went along with them. Now, things aren't that way anymore. I'm proud of my country and my color and I think that maybe things will one day straighten out for everyone."

That remains to be seen, but one thing for sure is her hard-hitting voice that produces instant sparks whether belting out a soul song or crooning a love song. One can feel Aretha rapping with charisma, confidence and a dynamism which never fails to electrify her listening audience.

Greatest Hits

Her album "Greatest Hits" is a must for anyone who enjoys soul, blues and jazz. Side one includes such standard hits as "Spanish Harlem," "Chain of Fools" and one of Aretha's greatest songs, "Dr. Feelgood."

"Let It Be," written by John Lennon and Paul McCartney, is also given special treatment by Aretha.

Kicking off side two is her interpretation of Paul Simon's "Bridge Over Troubled Water." It then slides into that irresistible favorite, "Respect." Miss Franklin's very first gold record, "I Never Loved A Man (The Way I Love You)," which was cut in 1967 at Muscle Shoals, is also featured along with "Call Me."

"Young, Gifted and Black," her latest solo album, is a collection of songs in which the pacing is sharp. The numbers are delivered with precision, in a rhythm and blue vocal style that is strictly Aretha. It also includes four songs written by Miss Franklin, one of which is her recent blockbuster, "Rock Steady."

Throughout the entire album, Aretha accompanies herself on the piano and is helped out by such well-known backup men as Donon Hathaway, organ; Billy Preston, organ; Cornell Dupree, guitar; Chuck Rainey, bass; Neal Rosen, trumpet, and vocal groups The Sweet Inspirations and Erma Franklin and The Sweethearts of Soul, plus a host of others.

Besides "Rock Steady," the album features "Oh Me, Oh My (I'm A Fool for You Baby)," "A Brand New Me," "I've Been Loving You Too Long," "Border Song" and the title tune, "Young, Gifted and Black."

Atlantic has just recently released a two-set album called "Heavy Soul," and it is just that—heavy. It features some of the best soul artists to have emerged on the contemporary scene since the uniting of pop and soul.

Here again we find Miss Franklin belting out "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and "Spanish Harlem." King Floyd cuts loose with two of his heavies called "Grove Me" and "Baby Let Me Kiss You." Wilson Pickett also has his say in the matter with "Don't Let The Green Grass Fool You" and "Don't Knock My Love—Part I."

Another heavy to make the pop rolls during the merger is a group called The Beginning of The End and their "Funky Nassau—Part I" is included on the super-soul album.

Others making contributions are Dede Warwick with "Suspicious Minds," Roberta Flack and Donny Hathaway teaming up on "You've Got A Friend." The Persuaders with "Thin Line Between Love and Hate," Clarence Carter with "Slipped, Tripped and Fell in Love," and, of course, Little Sister doing their super hit "Somebody's Watching You."

Break Benton, Jackie Moore, Garland Green, Tyrone Davis, Barbara Lynn, King Curtis, Betty Wright and Sam and

Dave also lend a hand in making this one of the best all-around soul albums to hit the stands in a long time. It is soul at its best, yet it's an album that can be enjoyed by even the lightest of soul buffs.

Funds Released for Illinois State Library

Illinois State University President David K. Berlo has announced Thursday that funds for ISU's new $8 million library have been released by the Governor's Task Force on Capital Projects.

As a result, the university will begin steps immediately to advertise for construction bids, which will be submitted to the Board of Regents. It is estimated that the building will take about two years to complete. Funding will be through the Illinois Building Authority.

President Berlo termed the new library "one of the most significant structures in the 115-year history of Illinois State University." ISU's present library was built in 1940, with additions in 1960 and 1965, and suffers badly from overcrowding.

E. Erie Jones, chairman of the Governor's Task Force, which functions through the Bureau of the Budget, informed President Berlo of the release of $8,225,000 in construction funds, a reduction of $495,000 from the original construction estimate of $7,120,000.

University staff architects and engineers worked in cooperation with the Task Force to achieve the cost reduction while adding 2,300 square feet to the building.

James Monroe a Born Protester

Editor's Note: James Monroe, 1758-1831, a Virginian, became fifth president of the United States. The famous Monroe Doctrine was a part of his second annual message to Congress. This is another in a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

By BETT ANDERSON
Copley News Service

When James Monroe was a teen-ager, he didn't have to study American history out of a book.

It was being made right in the streets outside his schoolhouse window.

The long-smoldering quarrel between the British and the Colonists was approaching a climax. It was hard for James to study about the Latin agriculture when the American farmer was abandoning his hoe for a musket and preparing to fight for his rights.

James, a student at William and Mary College, was a born protestor. When students organized into an unofficial military unit, drilling on campus, James was a member. When a petition was circulated to protest bad food at the school, James was a signer.

When some teenagers marched on the British governor's palace to force markets and swords, James was the youngest of the patriots. He considered the Boston Tea Party of 1773 a real "happening."

George Washington was James' hero. Finally, James decided that merely protesting was not his thing. He wanted action.

So, at 17, he dropped out of school and joined the Third Virginia Infantry. Its members were hunting shirts with swinging rows of fringe on them in flattering imitation of Washington himself. In this costume, James looked like the stuff of which television heroes are now made. He was a tall, rawboned figure with appealing shyness.

James rose quickly in the Army. At 18, he was promoted to captain for bravery under fire. On a cold, snowy Christmas night, he had followed Gen. Washington across the ice-choked Delaware River and surprised the Hessians.

The next year, when he was 19, he fought at Brandywine Creek and there met Lafayette. The two boys became great friends. Years later, James Monroe was able to arrange for the release of Lafayette's wife from prison in Paris.

James Monroe, the country boy from Virginia, eventually became the fifth president of the United States. There had been no president of the United States when James Monroe was a teen-ager!

LIST WITH COCHRANE-WOLF "IT'S SOLD"

Ireland to Attend 'Y' Aquatics Conference

Ron Ireland, aquatic specialist of the YMCA staff, will attend the seventh national YMCA aquatics conference March 25-30 in Denver, according to Dr. E. W. Walton, local "Y" president.

The conference, which has attracted more than 800 preregistrations from all parts of the country, will mark a milestone in modern YMCA history as new and revised national YMCA aquatic programs will be instituted and leadership trained and certified to launch the new programs.

Walton indicated that these programs have been under study and in various stages of development and field testing for several years, and that the local "Y" staff has been involved in the planning since 1970.

Ireland, who now holds the rank of aquatic instructor, will seek to be recertified at the same rank at the Denver conference. Under the new system, however the aquatic instructor will be a higher rank and will be second only to the rank of aquatic director.

Locally, Walton pointed out, the "Y" program will begin using the new systems this summer and will be completely on the program by January 1973. Changes in leadership qualifications and divisions of specialties mark some of the innovations, while the more obvious changes will be seen in the actual instructional processes.

These changes are geared to meet the needs of today's families as they include a much wider variety of water recreation activities in their daily living.

IS OUR HOUSE THE BEST VALUE IN TOWN TODAY???

We Think So—and Heres' Why... In our opinion the Basement House, in the Granite City area, will increase in value, over the value of a non-basement or slab house with a garage, to the extent that its increased value should, within ten years, be worth the price of a new car to you.

The basement home, has the advantage of easy and inexpensive expansion for additional bedroom or family room, while you are making money living in it.

In other words... the basement house has better, quicker, and higher re-sale value.

No reasonable offer refused. Unreasonable offers considered. This is Silver Creek Bottom Ground. Some light flooding occurs in very heavy rains, but the beauty and serenity of this wooded tract is yours exclusively to enjoy for most of the year. 735' frontage on township road, 1,300' deep. Can be divided into 4 tracts, and we predict they will sell for $3,500 each within 36 months. These little recreation tracts are getting as scarce as hen's teeth. With the camper boom, ecology awareness and the close-in location, you be the judge. No reasonable offer refused. Unreasonable offers considered. Asking $6,950 for starters.

Lawn & Garden

PLANTING ENGLISH IVY

English ivy should be a top consideration if you need an attractive ground cover in shaded areas.

English ivy is an evergreen vine that is disease resistant and easy to care for. In some situations it may require occasional pruning to prevent it from climbing trees or spreading into your lawn.

Annual fertilizing in late winter or early spring with winterizer or similar organic fertilizer will maintain good growth and color. Scatter 4-5 pounds per 100 sq. ft. over the bed. The slow release character of this fertilizer will not harm the foliage or vines of any ground cover or newly emerging spring bulbs.

New plantings or replanting is best in early spring. Plants should be 15-18 inches apart. Mix peat moss or compost into the soil of new beds to improve the drainage and prevent compaction. Light mulching after planting and periodic watering are the final ingredients to success.

You can start new plants from the tips of vines making 6 to 8 inch cuttings. Strip off the bottom few leaves and stick the stripped portion in moist sand or potting soil. Water regularly. Start cuttings in early March for spring planting. Transfer rooted cuttings directly to your new planting bed.

English ivy can be grown among flowering bulbs and complements them for several years.

TWO FLOWER POTS

Double potting will improve the growth of many house plants by increasing humidity and supplying extra water through the sides of the pot.

Double-potting is planting a potted plant in a larger pot lined with peat moss. The moss holds extra water and supplies it through the porous clay pot as needed by the plant.

Retiring Postman Recalls 31 Years, 5 Dog Bites

COMPARISON SHOPPING

Comparison shopping is one way, homemakers can keep budget limitations from resulting in poor nutrition for their families.

Today, many homemakers find that they have to pay more attention to the nutrition they get for each food dollar.

A key word in this process is "comparison." Comparison shopping involves many facets. For example:

— Comparisons between sale and non-sale items. Most stores advertise low prices on certain items each week. The smart shopper checks these advertised bargains for nutritional value in relation to price.

For example, a sale on frozen dark green vegetables is a good nutritional value because foods in this group provide large amounts of vitamin A in addition to other nutrients. In contrast, a sale on sweet foods provides mainly calories.

— Comparison between forms of food. Do you want to pay for added conveniences when you buy food? When money is more scarce than time, you may want to do more preparation yourself.

Some convenience foods, however, cost no more than fixing them yourself.

The nutritional differences among fresh, frozen or canned fruits and vegetables are usually small—but the price differences are sometimes substantial.

— Comparison between brands. Many times stores have their own brand names, and their prices will be lower than those of nationally-advised brands for similar items. Sometimes the opposite is true, however.

— Comparison between sizes. Sometimes you save by buying a larger size of an item—and sometimes you don't. Many stores now use unit-price labeling to show, for example, the price-per-ounce of the various brands and sizes available.

Taking time to read the unit-price labels can help a lot. But remember, buying the large size of an item will not always be the wisest decision. If part of the food spoils before you eat it, the purchase was not a bargain, regardless of the price.

— Comparison between foods. You may be used to eating foods that have no nutritional advantage over cheaper foods. An expensive steak or roast gives you protein, but so does chicken, hamburger, pork, fish, eggs, cheese, peanut butter and dried peas or beans. And each of these food items are inexpensive protein foods.

All of this comparison will mean a little more time and effort in your food shopping. But if your budget is tight, and you don't want your family to be poorly nourished, it is a worthwhile effort to make.
